Red China Warns U.S.

Fires on American Air Carrier

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Communist China today followed up its charges that U. S. planes "invaded" China with a warning that "further aggression" will be met with the full might of the Chinese armed forces.

The U. S. Navy said Red Chinese coastal batteries opened up Wednesday on an American carrier plane flying eight miles outside the Chinese mainland. Peiping called the incident a planned attack aimed at preventing the "peaceful liberation" of Formosa.

The State Department declined any comment pending outcome of a Navy investigation into the incident, but it was believed the investigation would lead to a protest to the Peiping government. Promises Retaliation

The Peiping Peoples Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist government, renewed and amplified its angry charges today.

The editorial was broadcast by Peiping Radio, chief propaganda outlet for Red China.

"The Chinese people do not threaten nor do they invade other countries nor will they allow their country to be threatened or invaded," it said. "If the American aggressors dare to invade China our armed forces will deal them smashing blows."

"Yesterday's incident was aimed at creating tension in the Far East and preventing the peaceful liberation of Taiwan (Formosa). China territorial land, sea and air are inviolable. The American aggressors will have to face all the consequences of their provocative acts."

Mayflower II Near Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass. — Mayflower II, "The Lord with her," glided from ages past toward Plymouth today on the last lap of her transatlantic crossing.

Capt. Alan Villiers hoped to unfurl the tiny brig's full canvas for the tricky trip into Plymouth Harbor. Thousands of sightseers and an official welcoming committee awaited her on the 54th day of her voyage.

Some of the edge was taken off the Plymouth reception at Provincetown Wednesday. The square-rigged galleon halted there to reenact the signing of the Mayflower Compact, just as the founding fathers did 336 years ago, and was virtually commandeered by eager tourists.

Coast Guard cutters circling the 92-foot craft were unable to pry away an excursion boat hugging the side of the official committee launch next to the Mayflower II.

The Mayflower II, exact replica of the original, lurched into Provincetown at the end of a 50-yard tow line from the Coast Guard cutter Yankton. Fifteen to 20-foot swells pitched the tiny craft.

"It bothered me a little," Villiers said, "to come in on a tow line. But it would have bothered me more to be out there battling those winds."

Purpose of the institute is to determine the point at which high schools should go in their instruction in higher mathematics, and the point at which colleges and universities should pick up their instruction.

Galatia Revises Proposition for Unit School District

Due to the recent uncovering of important information, the petition for a unit school district in the Galatia community has been revamped to exclude that part of the Raleigh Grade School District which is now a part of the Galatia Community High School District.

When the original petition was circulated it was believed that very few Raleigh elementary school children would be affected by the formation of a new district. However, it has been learned that a sufficient number would be affected that the operation of the Raleigh school would be jeopardized.

Although the territory could have been petitioned out of the unit district after its formation, it was decided that in order to show good faith the petition should be changed. This will necessitate the circulation of the new petition. Nothing else has been changed, it was stated.

In the event the voters approve a unit district in the coming election those in the Raleigh area who are being excluded may petition into the unit if they so desire, school authorities said.

Auto Jumps Curb, Strikes, Hurts Girl, 4

Police Warn Speeders After Incident at Raymond and Granger

Paula Bean, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bean, 316 South Granger street, was injured Wednesday evening when run over by an automobile while playing on the front walk near her home.

The little girl was taken to Harrisburg hospital where she spent a comfortable night and was being x-rayed this morning to determine the extent of her injuries.

Chief of Police Ross Lane states Paula was run over by an automobile driven by Jerry W. Blue, 19 years of age.

Lane stated Blue was driving west on Raymond, turned north on Granger but failed to make the turn, hitting the curbing on the west side of Granger street. The car then shot across Granger, jumped the curb on the east side of the street, ran across the Glynn McCormack lawn, hit the little girl and continued until it came to a halt after hitting the home of Elmo Cooper, northeast of the McCormack home, Lane added.

Chief Lane said witnesses told him the car did not make a stop before making the turn off Raymond onto Granger street.

Young Blue was taken before Police Magistrate Oliver Wood immediately after the accident and made a plea of guilty to reckless driving. He was fined.

Chief Lane stated today he was starting a drive against speeding on the streets of Harrisburg.

"Early this month," Lane said "I urged all motorists to drive with care, pointing out that with the closing of schools for the summer there were many children playing on the walks. Apparently many drivers failed to heed the caution, as we continue to get calls about fast driving. There are zones in Harrisburg where 15, 20 and 25 miles per hour is the speed limit and we plan to take action to strictly enforce the speed law," Lane declared.

Eldorado Students Win Competitive U of I Scholarships

Two Eldorado Township high school graduates — Kaye Burnett Taylor and Ora Paul Hadsor — have been awarded University of Illinois scholarships.

They were high in competitive examinations given by Raymond Gardner, Saline county superintendent of schools, for the University. The exams, with 15 high school graduates participating, were given at the Harrisburg Junior high school April 27.

Hausser topped the participants in the exam for the County scholarship, open to any graduate in the county and for the field of his choice.

Miss Taylor won the scholarship for Home Economics. The scholarship exempts the students from tuition fees for the four years of college.

Scholarships were also available for agriculture, Children of Veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean action, but there were no winners announced in those classifications.

Durfee, Hine, Billman Barns Destroyed

Storms Also Hit Other Parts of County, S. Illinois

Destructive winds struck in many parts of Saline county about 4 a. m. today, but reports indicate the most damaging winds were east of Harrisburg in the Big Ridge community and south of Eldorado along the Billman Road.

It is reported the belfry of the Big Ridge Baptist church was toppled and that several barns in the area, including those on the Frank Durfee and Mrs. C. M. Hine farms, were destroyed. Mr. Durfee's truck, inside the barn, was believed only slightly damaged.

A drive along the Billman Road reveals that practically every one along the five-mile stretch of road connecting highways 142 and 13 had some damage.

Lloyd Billman Damage
The Lloyd Billman farm was particularly hard hit. One barn was completely demolished and a chicken house wrecked. A large tree was toppled and fell across the back of a truck and corn planter, but apparently the vehicles were only slightly damaged and Mr. Billman reported no loss of livestock or chickens.

The Billman yard was littered with roofing and other material from the wrecked buildings, plus tree limbs.

Although the residence escaped this morning, it was hit about two weeks ago and a large section of the roof had to be replaced.

A large barn on the Billman Estate, being farmed by Roy Osborn, had the entire east side blown away and continuing along the Billman Road toward Eldorado extensive damage was noted to barns on the William Sutton and Wilfred Sutton farms.

Tree Across Truck
It was learned a large tree fell across a truck and tractor at the

Triple Rites for Ingrams, Mrs. Miley; Time Not Yet Set

A triple funeral will be held here for Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Ingram and daughter, Mrs. Delmas Miley, instantly killed Tuesday in a Florida highway crash.

The bodies were scheduled to leave Florida today and arrive at 3:30 a. m. Saturday at Cairo, Ill. They will lie in state Saturday at Gaskins funeral home.

Time of the funeral depends on the condition of Mrs. Miley's daughter, Katie Lou, injured and in a hospital at Gainesville. Her father, Delmas, called here late yesterday to say the child is getting along well and decision will be made Friday as to when she can leave the hospital.

Mr. Miley and his daughter, Mrs. Ronnie Zeigler, are with Katie Lou and it was stated they will remain with her until she is able to leave the hospital. The funerals will be held up until the three can arrive in Harrisburg, but it is hoped that they can be held Sunday.

It was learned that Katie Lou suffered no broken bones except a fractured cheek bone, although she was badly bruised all over.

The three were killed near Cross City, Fla., in a collision between Mr. Ingram's car and one driven by Lewis Anderson, prominent Tampa, Fla., civic leader and business man. Mr. Anderson's wife, Margaret, was killed and he and a son, Robert, were hospitalized.

Fall-Out

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
American Iron Curtain Is Harder To Penetrate Than Russia's; Moscow Ballet Balked
At Being Fingerprinted In
U. S. A.; Many Doctors Warned
Ike's Illness Would Recur.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lyndon
Johnson's statesmanlike proposal
that we try out an exchange of television and other cultural projects with Russia focuses attention on whether Khrushchev is right or wrong about an American
"Iron Curtain."

The Communist Party boss,
when he faced the nation over CBS, claimed the United States
had blocked cultural exchanges.
He called for widespread cultural exchange, in brief the lifting of
the "American Iron Curtain."

Careful investigation at the State Department indicates that Khrushchev is right.

The official policy of the United States, as announced by President
Eisenhower at the Geneva Summit
Conference, is people-to-people
friendship behind the Iron Curtain. However, this policy is a long way from being carried out,
and those responsible are partly
the State Department, partly Congress for erecting red tape—especially fingerprinting.

Here are the facts:
Within a month after Ike announced the people-to-people
friendship policy in 1955, the Hutchinson (Kans.) News proposed an exchange of wheat farmers with Russia, similar to the exchange of Russian - American farmers which chiefly concentrated on the farm belt. The State Department said no.

In 1956, Rumania, another Iron Curtain country, asked to send an agricultural delegation to the United States. The State Department, after considerable palaver,
admitted only one Rumanian farm expert. He wanted to come for 90 days. The State Department cut him down to 60 days.

Finally he came, toured the Middle West, bought several million dollars' worth of seed corn
and farm machinery, then asked to remain 30 days longer. The State Department refused. He departed immediately.

Yet the exchange of farmers in the summer of 1955 had resulted in acting Agriculture Minister Matskevich broadcasting over the Voice of America from Washington to tell the Russian people that the American people were their friends. The Soviet government has been spending several million dollars a year to jam the Voice of America so such messages could not be heard. Yet a member of the Soviet cabinet was permitted to say this over the Voice of America.

FINGERPRINTING ROADBLOCK

Since then, the people-to-people friendship campaign has been in the hands of mustachioed William Lacey, a career diplomat who an excellent job as ambassador to Korea and is now trying to promote cultural exchange.

It took three days for this writer to persuade Mr. Lacey to answer his telephone, so it may not be easy for the Russians to reach him either. However, Mr. Lacey,
when finally available, admitted that cultural exchange is not going too well with Russia. It is going better with Poland and the satellite countries.

Chief obstacle is fingerprinting.

The Russians flatly refuse to come to the U. S. A. if they are to be fingerprinted. This, they say, is the sign of a police state. Exactly this, however, is required by Congress and, although the State Department asked Congress to change the law, key Congressman
Francis Walter (D. Pa.) has been vigorously opposed.

The FBI, according to State Department officials, has been most cooperative, does not oppose U.S.-USSR cultural exchange as a danger to U. S. security.

Fingerprinting, however, has blocked the famed Moscow ballet from visiting the U. S.; also the Moyseev ensemble, a group of folk singers.

Eddie Dowling, well-known actor and producer, has gone to Moscow three times to arrange for the Moscow ballet to come to Washington. Sol Hurok has been there twice, and Billy Rose has also negotiated for an American tour of the famous ballet. But the State Department has refused to waive fingerprinting, and the Moscow ballet refuses to submit to what it calls the humiliation of police-state techniques.

State Department figures show that practically no students have been exchanged between the United States and Russia. On the other hand, some 17,000 students visited Russia from Europe and Asia last year, and about 100,000
tourists went there last summer.
"Porgy and Bess" also toured Russia from the United States and was wildly acclaimed everywhere.

Unquestionably the Russian Iron Curtain has been partly lowered. The American curtain is much harder to penetrate.

IKE SAW KHRUSHCHEV

Newsman are mystified as to why Press Spokesman Jim Hag-

erty should have denied that President Eisenhower saw the Khrushchev television interview, when
the President later said he did.

Here is what Hagerty said: "The President did not see the interview, but was aware of it."

Later, at his press conference,
the President was asked whether the American embassy in Moscow took a tape recording of the interview.

"Mr. Hagerty says we have it,"
the President replied. "I haven't seen it. All I have seen is what you saw on television."

The President then proceeded to comment at length on the interview.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

The doctors who warned the public last June that the President's stomach trouble was likely to recur were Dr. David Rutstein, head of the Harvard Medical School Department of Preventive Medicine; Dr. Samuel Gaines of the Polyclinic Hospital in New York; and several studies were also published to that effect by the Mayo Clinic and the New England medical journal. Dr. Ward Van Patter of Mayo's wrote "recurrence is found to be as high as 65 per cent." . . . "The percentage of recurrence is found to be as high as 65 per cent." . . . "The percentage of recurrence is up to 50 per cent," said Dr. Gaines.
"It often recurs within one year," said Dr. Rutstein . . . most people don't know it, but Sen. Bill Knowland took quite a political licking in his home town of Oakland, Calif., the other day. Knowland and his family newspaper, the Oakland Tribune, strongly supported Ernest Rossi for the Oakland city council, but were decisively beaten by Robert Osborne, an Oakland manufacturer.
Osborne was backed by the Democrats and labor.

WHY re-enlist in the small-car army?

READ THIS STARTLING FACT

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars
wear a Pontiac Price Tag
—yet none gives you Any
of Pontiac's Advantages

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you
the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging heft and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest heavyweight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer
can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why!
Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the best behaved beauty that you ever had the pleasure of bossing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic . . . this is driving
the smaller jobs can't duplicate.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Pontiac's longer stride brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car
at any price can surpass . . . and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER— BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance,
Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 stands head
and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete facts-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway
will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that
so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class
and into a Pontiac . . . there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now!

So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

Ancient Copy of Bible

OLEAN, N. Y. — (UP) — A noteworthy addition to St. Bonaventure University's collection of mediaeval manuscripts and incunabula is a 14th century manuscript copy of the Bible.

The book probably was written by the Franciscans and originally belonged, according to the inscription, to the Franciscan Friary at the famous pilgrimage entre, the Shrine of Our Lady, at Walsingham
in Norfolk, England.

A special license was required
by the British government to export the rare volume.

Entitled "Biblia Sacra Latina,"
the book contains about 880 pages
of vellum, with 58 to 60 lines to a page. It is written in a clear, small,
Gothic handwriting with a quill pen. Initials are illuminated in red and blue.

Miss Oma Louise Grisham Weds Venda Gene Rhine

Miss Oma Louise Grisham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland E. Grisham of 1810 College Avenue, Mt. Vernon, and Venda Gene Rhine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rhine of Eldorado RFD 3, were united in marriage in the First Presbyterian church of Eldorado, on Sunday afternoon, June 2.

Rev. Austin Huever performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of white gladioli, greenery and tall candelabras holding burning white candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin and was fashioned with a fitted bodice and a Queen Anne collar. The skirt was full, the sleeves fitted and pointed at the hands and there were many miniature buttons closing the gown in the back. A headdress of seed pearls and iridescent sequins secured a fingertip-length veil of illusion and the bride carried a bouquet of white roses, centered with a single orchid and with white ribbon and rosebud cascades.

Miss Patricia Cross of Bethalto served as maid-of-honor and wore blue chiffon, a veiled head-dress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Sandra Sue Busler, bridesmaid, wore pink chiffon with a veiled head-dress and carried blue carnations.

Clark Rhine, brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man and Ray Grisham, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Revis Busler and Ransie Barker were ushers.

Leslie Rhine was the flower girl.

The bridegroom's mother wore pink lace with white accessories and a corsage of carnations.

Frank Braden, accompanied at the organ by Miss Linda Tison, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

There was a reception in the church, with a five-tiered wedding cake holding the place of honor at the decorated table. Hostesses were Mrs. Nellie Busler, Mrs. Fern Tucker, Mrs. Rannie Stevens and Mrs. Pauline Tison. Miss Reba Barker kept the guest book. Following the reception the bridal couple left for a two weeks trip through the Smoky mountains.

Allen Dale Burbank, graduate in the HTHS class of 1957, is working in Kewanee for the Western Union telegraph company. Young Burbank was a telegraph operator in Jacksonville during his summer vacation last summer. He plans to attend SIU during the coming school year.

Estes Family Reunion Held at Guard Home

The fourth annual reunion of the Estes family, with 36 members and two visitors attending, was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Guard in Dorris Heights. There was a basket dinner spread over two large tables in the house and everyone shared in the pleasure of the meal. Oscar Thomas asked the blessing.

Visiting was the order of the day and pictures were taken during the intervals of sunshine.

Forty-two family members had been notified, but some of them live too great a distance to attend. Many sent greetings and expressed the hope that they can attend next year.

Mrs. Bonita Evans called Mrs. Guard on the telephone, from her home in Pasadena, Calif., to wish the group a happy reunion. During a short business meeting it was decided to hold next year's reunion in the Guard home, again, and to set the date for the second Sunday in June.

The following officers were elected: Leo Wiedeman of St. Louis, president, Orval Nelson of Harrisburg, vice - president; Millicent Guard of Harrisburg, secretary.

Reports of several new babies were made, and one death during the past year, Mrs. J. W. Wallace, was reported.

Mrs. Maude Nelson and Earl J. Estes of Harrisburg and Mrs. Ora Wiedeman of St. Louis are the only living children of Joseph and Margaret Estes.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Chris Simpson of Zeigler.

Members attending were: Oscar Thompson and Mrs. Mary Harper of Sulphur Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wiedeman, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wiedeman and children, Rosalie Kay and Donald Lee, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berry of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petty of Cobden; Mr. and Mrs. Fleesburg and children, Dale and Doris of Winona; and from Harrisburg, Mrs. Maude Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Estes, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson, with their children, David, Roger, Dannie, Ronnie and Stephen, Ezra Guard, Jr. Guard and Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Guard, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nelson of Murphysboro.

Interested In Strip, Underground Types In Bowlesville Township

SHAWNEETOWN, Ill., June 13.—The Stonefort Corporation is interested in developing both strip mining and underground operations in Bowlesville township if results of drill tests now under way prove satisfactory, officials of the Indianapolis, Ind., firm revealed at a meeting of citizens held at the American Legion hall in Shawneetown Tuesday night.

However, stripping operations would probably commence first in order to discover conditions and problems of the operation on a small scale, they explained.

The representative group of some 100 interested citizens heard Sam Sherwood, president of the firm, and Bill Dukes, mining superintendent point out that they had acquired sufficient options and leases for both types of mining to start some kind of operation, but the extent and kind of operation depends on how much coal is available. They can't operate on a large scale with a small amount of coal, they emphasized.

Mr. Sherwood stated that the Stonefort Corporation is a fairly new company in itself but was the result of a merger of three separate coal companies which had been started by his father in 1913 in Danville and later expanded to Lincoln, Ill., and Sullivan, Ind. He said that the firm is family controlled and is not run by a board of directors which results in slower action, etc.

He said they had mined 1,800,000 tons of coal last year in Illinois which ranked them 10th in the state and 54th in the nation. Their Will Scarlett mine near Carrier Mills had a payroll of three-quarter million dollars last year and the community reaps other advantages in the firm's purchases of supplies, etc.

Modern Methods Required

He also explained how there is a two or three year time lag from the time the firm starts an investigation as is now going on in Bowlesville until something concrete shows.—“We cannot rush into an operation such as this for fear of making mistakes,” he added. He pointed out, however, that they are anxious to get started as soon as they can.

Mr. Sherwood told of how other industries, such as power plants and aluminum plants often follow a coal mine into an area. This depends largely on the amount of reserve coal available since sometimes a 50-year supply is needed to make electricity for some plants, he said.

He stated that there is no six-foot seam of strippable coal in the area of their leases and options but that it is handily situated near the river and the disadvantage of the three or four foot seam of coal is considerably offset by the location. Modern methods also offset some of the risk involved in underground operations.

Employ 103 at Carrier Mills

Coal firms are faced with the situation of getting less for coal than they did 10 years ago while costs are doubled and as a result they must do the job better with modern and efficient operation.

Mr. Dukes narrated the history of constructing the Will Scarlett mine as colored slides were shown by Ed Brantley of Harrisburg. Views were shown of the site before construction began and progress made during the 12-month construction period, after which raw coal was produced; followed by erection of the preparation plant and other facilities that allowed the mine to operate at full scale a year later.

Dealers Give Advice To Amateur Antiquer

NEW YORK — (UP) — Dealers participating in the recent New York Antiques Fair gave these rules for antiques shopping: Don't try to mix profit-making with collecting. This spoils the fun.

Buy only what you need or like. Look for value, as well as bargain.

Consider the function of an item, as well as its decorative possibilities.

Don't buy for age alone; beauty and condition are also important.

Cat Has Novel Method Of Getting Attention

ALBANY, N. Y. — (UP) — Smoky, the cat, has discovered a new method of keeping neighbors awake.

Police rushed early one morning to the drugstore where Smoky lies in answer to the burglar alarm. A call to owner Robert Rubenstein brought this reply:

“Oh, it's probably that darned cat of mine. He's always scratching the tape around the door and it sets off the alarm.”

New Southern Illinois Fish Hatchery To Be Constructed Near Little Grassy

By WARREN STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The Conservation Department plans to turn out another 25,000 bass and bluegills and other fish each year when its proposed, new southern Illinois fish hatchery is completed.

The young fish will go into new Illinois ponds and lakes, now being constructed at the rate of nearly 1,000 a year, for stocking purposes. The new hatchery, ultimately, will replace some existing units.

About 110 acres of land south of Little Grassy Lake in Williamson County have been purchased for the new hatchery, authorized by the 1955 Legislature. A total of $145,000 was appropriated two years ago for the project.

The department plans to construct 10 ponds on the site, each two acres in area and eight feet deep, for hatching and rearing more than 100,000 bass and 100,000 bluegills annually. The units also will produce some sunfish.

Sam A. Parr, fisheries chief of the department, said a bill pending in the current Legislature would provide another $100,000 to complete the project. A total of $128,000 of the money made available by the 1955 Legislature, however, and would be reappropriated.

The Little Grassy site is considered "ideal" for the fish rearing unit, with the natural layout of the land, suitable for gravity feed of water from the lake and natural draining of the ponds in hatchery operation.

The ponds will be of earth construction, with shallow concrete tanks at the bottom of each pond for cleaning, purposes. The tract purchased for the installation is large enough to double its size if necessary in future years, Parr said.

The site is adjacent to the national forest area south of Little Grassy Lake.

Plans and specifications for the construction already have been drawn, and construction would begin shortly after July 1, when the proposed appropriation becomes effective, provided it gains legislative approval.

Small Hatcheries

The fisheries chief said the new hatchery would boost output of Illinois produced fish for stocking purposes to over two million annually. Somewhat more than 1,700,000 are hatched each year now. The total, however, includes large numbers of walleye and northern pike which are distributed in northern Illinois lakes and streams shortly after they are hatched, and are not carried over a season at the hatcheries to permit better stocking.

Existing hatcheries are located at Rockford, Springfield, Carle, Mattoon and Geneseo. Parr said the Rockford hatchery definitely would be so soon as possible after it is completed.

Some of the other units similarly may be disposed of after the new hatchery is constructed, but plans are not definite, he said.

Location of the hatchery in southern Illinois was required because of the extremely large demand for fish to stock new ponds being constructed in the southern part of the state. The 1953-55 drought helped boost the rate of pond building in southern Illinois.

The department provides pond and lake owners stock fish without charge if they will agree to a "reasonable" amount of public fishing.

Much-Married Peggy Hopkins Joyce Dies Of Cancer At Age 64

NEW YORK (AP) — Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former Broadway showgirl whose six marriages made her an international celebrity, died Wednesday night of throat cancer.

The blonde, blue-eyed beauty was born Marguerite Upton, 64 years ago in Farmville, Va. Her father was a hotelier.

Although she was one of Florenz Ziegfeld's "Glorified American Girls" and also appeared in Earl Carroll's "Vivies," it was her matrimonial ventures during the 1920s and 1930s that brought her international publicity.

Though there are over 500 different species of hummingbirds, only one you are likely to see east of Texas and the Rockies is the ruby-throat.

Galatia Revises School Proposal

Galatia Community High School District who are interested in improving their schools. Experience has indicated that the high school, particularly, has been forced to operate on a limited budget which will not permit a well-rounded secondary educational program.

"Proponents of the unit district realize that good elementary schools help make a good high school and that they are an essential part of the entire educational program."

"However, since practically all elementary graduates attend high school, it is imperative that the years in high school also be educationally profitable if the total program is to be effective. Our public school system involves grades one through twelve and these are the grades included in a unit system."

"There may be several attendance centers in the unit but they are all under one board of education which should consist of men who realize the importance of all twelve grades. It should be noted that no more than three members of the board of education can be elected from any one township."

"Statistics show that the proposed area is failing to receive about $25,000 in state funds each year because the unit district has not been formed."

Stop Effort to Cut State Police Increase

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Senate today beat down an attempt to reduce the proposed 600-man increase in the state police force to 200.

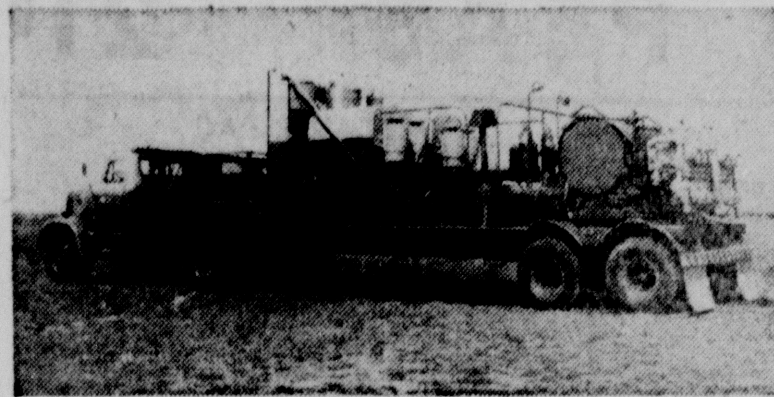

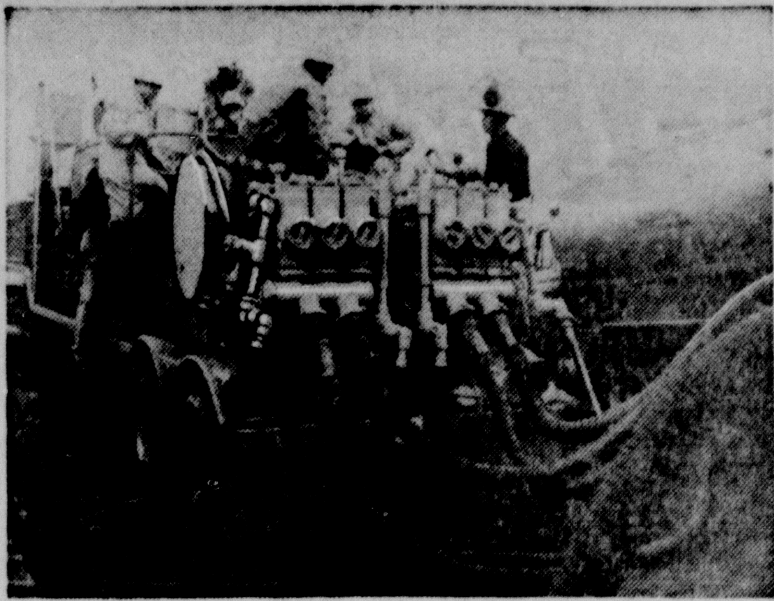

Sen. Lottie Holman O'Neill (R-Denver Grove) attempted to cut the state police increase bill to 200 with an amendment to the already approved House bill. It is part of Gov. William G. Stratton's safety program.

Halliburton Pump is Fracturing's Biggest

Halliburton's 1200-horsepower HT-400 fracturing trailer, now in field service, is the petroleum industry's most powerful fracturing unit. Now substantially larger volumes and much higher injection rates are available from the twin-pump mobile service unit.

More than one thousand hydraulic horsepower can be developed. Maximum pumping volume is in excess of 30 barrels per minute. Injection pressures up to 14,000 pounds can be reached. The HT-400 mobile fracturing unit is the biggest, most efficient pumping equipment in the field.

Each of the two Halliburton-designed and Halliburton-built HT-400 pumps is powered by a 600-horsepower Cummins V-12 Diesel. Laboratory and initial field runs in regular use indicate that each pump delivers more than 575 hydraulic horsepower — a remarkably high proportion of engine horsepower.

William D. Owsley, Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. senior vice president, stated, "Several years ago it became apparent that fracturing was moving toward greater volumes and increased injection rates. It became our assignment to anticipate these requirements and be ready with the best pumping unit."

"Halliburton engineers did not turn to war surplus engines and pumps designed for other applications. We started with basic design research. Many different pump designs reached at least the laboratory stage and some went beyond this, before the HT-400 was completed."

The surveys form a rigid, accurate basic framework for all maps, charts and boundary locations.

The work is undertaken at the request of federal, state and local agencies for use in mapping, boundary location and in connection with many types of heavy engineering projects, such as construction of highways, railroads, bridges, airports, floor control, soil conservation and land improvements.

In order to determine the exact geographic position of these stations, angles are measured at one station between several others usually several miles apart. It is necessary to erect steel towers over the marks so the surveyors can see from one station to another.

The towers are about ninety feet high and one will be erected on the southeast corner of the court house yard. Commander Martin states the tower construction is interesting to watch and "sidewalk superintendents" are welcome, but warns that everyone should be careful and keep at a safe distance.

After the work is completed in an area and the party is ready to move to another location, the towers are dismantled and moved with the survey party, leaving only the station mark behind. The mark consists of a bronze disc set in a

May Link Killing and Shortage

CHICAGO — A possible link between the mystery slaying of a Chicago banker and an estimated multi-million-dollar shortage in the office of the Cook County treasurer was investigated today by authorities.

The name of Leon Marcus, wealthy banker who was shot to death in a gang-style "ride" March 31, cropped up in the probe Wednesday when his initials were found on an allegedly fraudulent check issued by the county treasurer's office.

State's Atty. Benjamin Adamowski said the check for $3,654 was cashed at the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., which Marcus formerly headed. It was the same bank where Illinois' ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge cashed phony state small concrete monument and is usually flush with the ground.

Commander Martin has a film, approximately 20 minutes long, showing the work of a Geodetic survey party and he would be glad to show it to civic or other groups while in Harrisburg.

checks in his $2,500,000 embezzlement.

"If we keep digging, we may even learn who killed Marcus," the state's attorney said.

Adamowski has estimated the total loss in the treasurer's office may reach three million dollars.

The state's attorney said he "suspected" that another apparently bogus check for $7,408 drawn against county funds also was approved by the bank with Marcus' knowledge.

Marcus was kidnapped and shot by gunmen who dumped his body in a vacant lot on Chicago's South West Side.

The Rare Adventure

by BERNARD FERGUSON

Copr. 1954 by Bernard Edward Fergusson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: When Dr. Kurt Lillard was convicted of murder, his spot on the staff of a clinic in a small Missouri town was offered to Dr. Garde Shelton. Making a trip to look over the town, Garde is impressed by two young women he saw at the yacht club on the river.

Since Flynn had spoken of the yacht club group as if Garde would take a place among them, he must try to locate himself in that as-yet-unfamiliar setting.

He leaned against the fence, smoked his pipe and pictured himself as he was, standing there, doing those things. He was tall and dark. Dr. Shelton was a too intent young man, and his voice was deep. Charitably one could say that his voice vibrated. As a matter of cold fact, it grated or rasped. He was a doctor, and a good one. Children liked him, largely, Garde knew, because only with children did he easily drop his defensive attitude; with them he was natural, warm and friendly.

With others, life had taught him wariness. His boyhood had been meager. His mother was now, and had been, a schoolteacher who had taught her two sons morals but who had endowed them with no gift for beauty because she herself had not that gift. The world and its people were something to suspect and to fight. So believed Beth Shelton.

Garde knew that he had missed a lot of life. In the 35 years already passed by him, he had had to make his own adjustments to the world around him; he had had to work his own way through school, taking longer for his medical education than did other men.

With the look of a man who has reached a decision not entirely to his liking, he started the car and turned its wheels away from the fence, backed, then straightened out so that he could go down along the short street of tall houses. This time Garde found the clinic without any difficulty. He drove in between the gateposts and parked with assurance in one of the lanes marked out for "Visiting Doctors."

He touched his tie and glanced at his watch — 11:30. Not a bad hour. Still with assurance, he opened the front door and went into the clinic vestibule. Yes, it was much as he had pictured. A light, airy-seeming place, with a crisp cleanliness about it. This central hall terminated in wide doors for receiving cases. A curved desk at the right was equipped with a patient register, a bowl of pink flowers and a pleasant-faced receptionist. Some visitors sat in an alcove to his left; down the hall a nurse pushed a wheelchair in which sat a woman.

Garde went over to the desk "I'm Dr. Shelton," he said in his deep voice. He took out his wallet and opened it to his identification card. "I would like to see any of the staff doctors. I came here at the suggestion of Dr. Flynn about the possibility of handling the pediatric work."

She had looked him over while speaking, and of course Garde knew that she was doing it. He'd be "looked over" regularly, and judged against that other man, the one he was planning to replace. The girl did things with plugs at a small switchboard, then smiled at Dr. Shelton. Dr. Ruble, she said, would be right over.

Garde was nodding in approval when he heard his own name spoken. He turned to face a tall and smiling man. A handsome chap with white dusting his black hair, a small, clipped mustache and a skin dark from sun rather than by complexion. He wore crisp whites and he was extending a cordial hand. "I'm Ruble, O.B., doctor," he said warmly. "And I am glad to see you."

"Dr. Flynn suggested that I come up..." "Yes, he told us that you had to be sold on our proposition," Garde shook his head. "It was more a matter of adjusting my own ideas; I had somewhat expected to continue on his service at Children's. This — would be a change from that idea."

"Yes, it would. We have a doctors' room close by—if you care to..."

And of course Garde went with him, down the hall, past the desk and call board.

He opened a flat gray door labeled "Doctors. No Admittance" and stepped aside for Garde to precede him into a pleasant room furnished with leather chairs and two couches; there were bookshelves and restful colors. An open book showed a locker room and a shower stall. Ruble closed this door and waited for his guest to select a chair, then he took another and put his feet up on the coffee table.

"You're not as young as we feared," he said ingenuously, then laughed at himself. "Dr. Flynn calls you 'the boy,' and we took him seriously."

"I'm 35," said Garde. "I had to work my way through school, and it took longer."

"War service?" "No, I was exempted. I'm on stand-by reserve, but don't expect to be called." He shook his head at the offer of cigars. "I generally smoke a pipe—and it's an outdoor sort of instrument."

Ruble nodded. The two men still were watchful of each other. Like two pups, thought Garde, our neck hair bristled, and our tails stiff.

Evansville Station Protests Proposal To Assign Channel 3 to Carbondale

WASHINGTON — A proposal that television Channel 3 be assigned to Carbondale, Ill., has been protested by Evansville Television, Inc., in a statement filed with the Federal Communications Commission.

The Evansville firm, operator of WTVW on Channel 7, objected to the assignment of Channel 3 to Carbondale because that action would conflict with one of WTVW's proposals for meeting the commission's "de-intermixture" plan for Evansville.

The commission, aiming to remove the conflict of very high frequency and ultra high frequency television operation in the Evansville-Owensboro area, has ordered that VHF channel 7 be deleted from Evansville and assigned to Louisville.

WTVW in an effort to counter that order, offered the commission two alternatives — that it reassign channels 3 and 11 from Louisville to Evansville, or that it reassign channel 4 from Bloomington to Indianapolis and channel 6 from Indianapolis to Louisville. No action has been taken yet by the commission on that petition.

In the light of that petition, Evansville Television has asked the commission to withhold the Carbondale assignment of channel 3 until it rules on WTVW's proposals.

It points out that Carbondale and Evansville are only about 90 miles apart, while commission rules require that TV transmitters on the same channel be at least 170 miles apart. Adoption of the Carbondale assignment proposal "would thus deny WTVW's proposal that channel 3 be deleted from Louisville and reassigned to Evansville," the Evansville firm's statement noted.

It also points out that the population of Carbondale is only about 11,000 persons, while Evansville has more than 128,000 residents and Louisville more than 369,000. In view of those differences in population, it would be in the public interest for the commission to decide the matters rather than ruling on whether channel 3 should be assigned to Carbondale, the Evansville Television statement asserts.

Greenland, like North Carolina, has a "Lost Colony" mystery, the National Geographic Society says. A Norse settlement, established in the late 10th century, vanished 500 years later when supply ships from home failed to call. Legend says Eskimo invaders killed the starving colonists.

Constitutional Convention Out

SPRINGFIELD — The House Executive Committee has killed a proposal, endorsed by Gov. William G. Stratton in his inaugural message, for a constitutional convention to rewrite the 1870 state charter.

Chances for legislative approval of a constitutional convention call were never considered bright, and the governor has never pushed the proposal.

Legislative leaders report the governor now will seek approval in the closing weeks of the General Assembly for only two constitutional changes — overhauling the state court system and making the state auditor's office apportionment rather than elective.

Counseling, Follow-Up Part Of Graham's Evangelism

Editor's Note: This is the third of four special reports by the United Press on Billy Graham's New York crusade.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Of the hundreds who respond each night to Billy Graham's invitation to make "decisions for Christ," about 60 per cent fall into the category that the church traditionally has called "converts."

The other 40 per cent who come forward already are church members — some nominal, some active — who are reaffirming their faith.

Graham calls them all "inquirers" or "seekers" for Christ.

He agreed with his critics that others, who may have been genuinely moved to accept Christ, fall along the wayside in the difficult transition from a revival atmosphere to the less-stimulating environment of a local church.

Graham pointed out, however, that he has tried to minimize the attrition among his converts by setting up a "counseling and follow-up system" that is unique in the annals of mass evangelism.

Accompanied By Counselor

It goes into operation the moment an "inquirer" starts down the aisle at a Graham meeting. Before he reaches the front of the auditorium, the inquirer will find at his side a person of the same sex and approximately the same age — a "counselor" who has had nine weeks of special training for his role.

After the service, the counselor accompanies the inquirer to a large auditorium in the basement. When everyone is seated Graham or one of his assistants makes a brief talk.

The inquirers are urged to return each evening at 6:30 for the duration of the crusade, to attend classes of instruction. They also get individual interviews with the inquirers who later will fill out a "decision card" containing the inquirer's name, address, age, telephone number, occupation, the nature of his "decision," and his local church "preference."

Card Sent To Church

Within 48 hours, a copy of this card will go to the minister of the local church. The counselor is supposed to keep in touch with the inquirer, by telephone or in person, until he has established contact with a local church.

Some ministers follow up these

leads diligently. Others, who do not particularly approve of Graham's methods, resent what they regard as an attempt to draft them into his crusade.

Graham does all he can, at ministerial conferences and private talks, to win the wholehearted cooperation of local clergymen.

Many attempts have been made to determine what proportion of the "decisions" made at Graham's meeting bear lasting fruit. Admirers have demonstrated through spot-checks that many converts are now active, witnessing church members.

British Survey

The only survey which seems to have covered a statistically-significant sample was conducted in 1955 by the British Weekly, an interdenominational church paper in England which has never been identified as pro or anti-Graham.

On the basis of a poll of British clergy of all denominations, the paper reported that 64 per cent of the converts who joined churches during Graham's London crusade were "still attending church and taking part in church life regularly" one year later.

Graham himself will not venture a guess, in terms of percentages, as to how many signers of decision cards become true, lasting converts to Christianity. "Frankly," he said, "I don't think there is any way we can tell, this side of heaven. If even one of them is saved, the whole crusade is worthwhile."

Not As I Do

PORTLAND, Me. — (UP) — "Look dear," Blaine Davis cautioned his little daughter, "just put the lollipop in your mouth and suck it. Don't bite down on it like this."

Davis suddenly was minus a tooth.

Gets Degree In Law

WILLIAM HERRMANN

A future practicing attorney in either Gallatin or Saline county received his jurist doctor's degree at DePaul University in Chicago on June 6.

He is William Herrmann, son of the late Dr. N. A. Herrmann of Harrisburg. He is the brother of George Herrmann, Shawneetown druggist, and nephew of Leo Herrmann of Ridgway.

William plans to serve with the F.B.I. for the next four years as a special agent before setting up law practice. He has had some previous experience with the F.B.I., having served as fingerprinting expert for three months following his graduation from the Harrisburg Township high school in 1951. He is scheduled to take the state bar examination in September.

Mr. Herrmann received his BA degree at Southern Illinois University in August, 1955. He is married to the former Joan Mareks of Chicago. They have a 3-months-old daughter.

Leo Herrmann was among those to attend the conferring of degrees at DePaul Thursday of last week.

This Artist Does His Work Under Water

ALBANY, N. Y. — (UP) — Chris E. Olsen, of nearby West Nyack, does undersea paintings, literally. Olsen doesn't use a bathysphere, either. He just pulls on a diving hood, tucks his brushes and paints under his arm and jumps in. He sketches underwater on glass covered with canvas and white lead.

The artist does his painting, mostly in the South Pacific, in connection with the exploratory work of the American Museum of Natural History of New York City.

Drag Racing Gets Youths Into Trouble

SHAWNEETOWN, Ill., June 13 — Three Harrisburg youths have been fined, placed on six months probation, and barred from driving a motor vehicle for 30 days as a result of alleged "Drag Racing" in the City of Shawneetown and on State Route 13. They are Robert Wilson, 17, Billy Lee Wilson, 19, and George Pankey, 16, who were arrested Sunday afternoon at 4:30 by Gallatin County Sheriff Millard Holmway.

The sheriff reported that the younger Wilson was driving a 1950 Chevrolet, Billy Lee Wilson a 1956 and Pankey a 1947 Chevrolet. He said residents of Posey Avenue and adjoining streets stated the cars were lined up side by side at times and had driven on the wrong side of the streets and highway. There was a total of five other occupants in the three cars, all teenagers, some of whom are from Gallatin County. The three appeared before Gallatin County Judge Joe Hale Monday morning and each entered a plea of guilty to reckless driving.

The fines were fixed at $100 each and each was assessed court costs in the amount of $33.00. Judge Hale placed the youths on probation for a period of six months and they are to report to their special probation officer, Saline County Sheriff William Barrett, on the first Monday of each month. They were given until August 1 to pay the fines and costs. The court also has forbidden the three from driving a motor vehicle for a period of 30 days. Sheriff Holloway stated that every effort is being made to halt this type of driving. The best grass for an attractive lawn in the northern Great Plains area is bluegrass.

Del Ennis' Slugging Puts Cards Up with Big Boys; Larry Jackson Has Shutout

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Del Ennis, on the trading block only a week ago, is swinging in his old rhythmic style again and he could be the man to produce a possible pennant melody for the streaking St. Louis Cardinals.

The slugging Ennis paced the Cards to their eighth straight victory Wednesday night when he blasted a three-run homer off Rob-in Roberts of the Phillies in a 4-0 triumph that moved St. Louis with-in one game of the National League lead.

Thanks, in part, to Ennis' recent performances, the first five N. L. clubs are so closely bunched today that they all could squeeze through an eye of the same needle. Cincinnati still leads by half a game over both Brooklyn and Milwaukee while St. Louis and Philadelphia are both one game out.

Musial Sets Record

Larry Jackson of the Cardinals scattered nine hits to register his eighth victory as Stan (The Man) Musial set a league record for consecutive games played at 823.

Brooklyn defeated Milwaukee, 11-9; Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati, 4-3, in 10 innings, and the Giants edged the Cubs, 4-3, in other N. L. games.

The White Sox increased their

American League lead to five games with a 7-6 victory over the Yankees; the Indians licked the Red Sox, 6-1; Detroit beat Baltimore, 4-2, and Washington took the nightcap of a two-night twin bill, 3-2, after Kansas City won the opener, 5-3.

Charley Neal drove in four runs with a triple and a homer as the Dodgers ended their four-game losing slide at the expense of the Braves. Neal's two-run triple climaxed a six-run second inning and his two-run homer in the fourth proved the margin of victory.

Gene Freese singled home Dee Fondy in the 10th inning with the run that gave the Pirates their eighth victory in the last 12 games.

Mays "Steals" Show

Willie Mays was the whole show in the Giants' win over the Cubs. He slammed his 11th homer with two on in the sixth to tie the score, then stole third base in the ninth and continued home when Cub catcher Cal Neenan threw wild into left field.

The White Sox had to call on relievers Paul LaPalme and Dixie Howell to check a ninth-inning rally after Mickey Mantle blasted a two-run homer, his second of the game and 18th of the season. Mantle had four hits in five trips to boost his batting average to .378.

Walt Drope and Jim Rivera hit homers for Chicago while Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer connected for the Yanks.

Moss in Start

Cleveland's bullpen ace Don Mossi hurled his first complete game of the season to beat Boston. Mossi scattered nine hits and struck out six while the Indians capitalized on Bob Porterfield's error and balk to wrap up the contest with a five-run second inning.

The Tigers got to Oriole starter Art Ceccarelli for three runs in the first inning, J. W. Porter supplying the big blow with a two-run homer.

Rocky Bridges' sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the ninth helped reliever Tru Clevenger to his fifth straight victory as the Senators won the nightcap from the Athletics. In the opener, Kansas City rode to victory on homers by Lou Skizas, Gus Zernial and Hal Smith.

Jack Stanford Named Phil Player of Month

PHILADELPHIA — Rookie pitcher Jack Stanford, who has a 7-1 won-lost record, Wednesday was named the outstanding player of the month on the Philadelphia Phillies by the local sports writers association.

KEEPING HIS DISTANCE

Akins Cops Decision in Byars Bout

NORFOLK, Va. — Welterweight Virgil Akins of St. Louis, encouraged by his unanimous decision over Walter Byars, asked today for a shot at the top contender.

"I deserve a fight with Tony DeMarco," said lanky Virgil. "DeMarco could get only a split decision over Byars last month."

Akins' harder punching at long range beat stubby Byars of Boston before 3,000 in their TV 10-rounder at the City Arena Wednesday night. It was the sixth consecutive victory for 148-pound Virgil, rated fourth among contenders.

Byars, 144, suffered his second straight defeat. The ninth-ranking contender lost to top-rated ex-champion DeMarco of Boston on May 24.

Many of the fans thought 29-year-old Akins didn't deserve the decision. They booed the verdict after rooting throughout for little 24-year-old Walter, the 12-5 underdog. But the three ring officials favored Akins on the 10-point-must scoring: 98-93, 99-96 and 96-94. The United Press agreed, 96-94.

Man Finishes College Before High School

BOSTON — (UP) — John N. Ellis, 27, of Worcester finished college before he finished high school.

He left high school at the age of 17 to enter the Army in 1947. When he got out of the service two years later he decided to go to college. Boston University allowed him to enter on condition he finish high school before graduating from college.

Play Starts in U. S.

Open Golf Tournament

TOLEDO, Ohio — Ben Hogan, armed with a new putting grip and the same old grim determination, had both the odds and the sentiment of the gallery with him as he teed off today, along with 161 other hopefuls, in the opening round of the 57th U. S. Open golf championship.

The first threesome starts firing at 8 a. m. EST today in a three-day grind that lists 18 holes to-day and Friday, with the low 50 and ties meeting over 36 holes Saturday for golfdom's greatest prize.

Lucky Dip Could Be

Belmont Surprise

NEW YORK — Lucky Dip, a French-bred colt with stamina to spare, may prove the surprise of Saturday's 89th running of the $100,000 Belmont Stakes, the third jewel in the turf's Triple Crown.

While most observers are tabbing Bold Ruler and Gallant Man as the horses to beat, Lucky Dip came to the running of the mile and one-half Belmont with two sparkling performances at Delaware Park.

Dairy Boys Cop Kiwanis Loop Game

Dairy Brand beat the Independents 18-6 in the only Kiwanis league baseball game played Wednesday.

The winners led all the way, scoring five runs in the first, seven in the second, two in the third and four in the fourth. The losers tallied twice in the second and four times in the fourth.

Gulley pitched for Dairy Brand and gave up six runs on four hits and six passes while striking out seven. Johnson, Heglin and Gulley had two hits each for the winners and Bud Meadows had two hits and McClendon and Wallace homered for the Independents. Bill Meadows, the losing pitcher, gave up seven hits, seventeen bases on balls and retired five on strikes.

Musial Tops in First Report on All-Star Voting

NEW YORK — Stan (The Man) Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has played in 13 major league All-Star games, leads the National League voting today in the first poll results announced by Commissioner Ford C. Frick's office.

Musial, who set a National League record by playing his 823rd consecutive game Wednesday night, has attracted a total of 12,485 votes for first base in the first tally of ballots from all sections of the country.

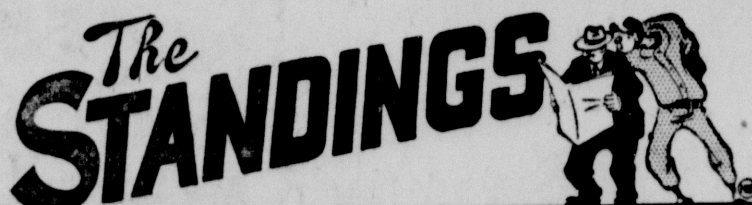

Besides Musial, the only 1956 starters who lead in the early voting for this year's game at St. Louis, July 9, are left fielder Frank Robinson and catcher Ed Bailey, both of the Cincinnati Redlegs. Musial started last year's game as a right fielder.

The closest voting thus far is at shortstop, where Al Dark of the Cardinals has polled 4,241 votes to 3,948 for Roy McMillan of the Redlegs. McMillan won the starting assignment in 1956.

Willie Mays of the New York Giants is runner-up to Musial in popularity with 11,807 votes for center field.

In the first cumulative vote the leaders at each position are: Musial, 1B; Red Schoendienst, Giants, 2B; Ed Mathews, Braves, 3B; Dark, SS; Robinson, LF; Mays, CF; Hank Aaron, Braves, RF; Bailey, C.

The early American League balloting will be announced later in the day. Voting is being conducted by various newspapers and radio and television stations throughout the country. Balloting for the teams closes at midnight, June 27.

Oliver Rollins

Oliver Rollins, the Carrier Mills Harlem Globetrotter, is getting ready to trot around parts of the globe again soon.

Last summer Rollins travelled through many countries in Europe with the Globetrotters, then played basketball up-and-down the United States and in Canada during the fall, winter and spring months. He came home to Carrier Mills about five weeks ago, after playing basketball 11 of the previous 12 months.

Now the Globetrotters are completing plans for a tour of the Caribbean area and South America with a squad that will include Rollins.

The "Big Cat" is playing lots of basketball and seeing lots of the world. That's the life of a Harlem Globetrotter.

McMurtry Relires After 39 Years As An Educator

J. S. McMurtry

J. S. McMurtry of Edoardo has retired after 39 years as a teacher and administrator, both in elementary and high schools.

In discussing his planned retirement Mr. McMurtry stated he had found the administrators duties, combined with some teaching, too heavy a load but might consider remaining active in the profession with teaching duties only.

He was principal of the Equality Township High school the past two years and was connected with the school, both as teacher and principal, for nine years.

Mr. McMurtry also has served as principal of high schools at Enfield, Cave-in-Rock, Minooka, Perry and Franklin and taught one year (1944) in the Eldorado Township high school. He has taught in the rural schools of Saline, White and Hamilton counties.

He first enrolled for college work at Carbondale in 1916 and started teaching within a couple of years. In 1921 he completed work and successfully passed an examination for a Supervisor's Certificate, which made him eligible to be a school principal, even though he hadn't completed work on his degree. He recalls there were six in the class working for the Supervisor's Certificate—and all were successful—including Roscoe Pulliam and John Allen, both well known in this area.

Mr. McMurtry has his Bachelor's degree in science and mathematics and Master's degree in administration from Southern Illinois university and has completed work at

Birth Registration Procedure Bill Goes to Governor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A bill which prescribes procedure for registration of births of children of Illinois residents outside the continental United States with the Illinois State Department of Health was passed by the House of the General Assembly this week and sent to Gov. William G. Stratton. The measure had Sen. Glen O. Jones, R., Harrisburg as one of its sponsors.

The bill defines citizens of Illinois as persons qualified to vote in the state and appropriates $1,000 to the Department to carry out the provisions of the proposed act. It says that where such Illinois parents are temporarily outside the U. S. and while in the military service they may register the birth of the child as an Illinoisan upon submission of satisfactory evidence.

The House also passed and sent to the Governor two bills by Sen. R. G. Crisenberry, R., Murphysboro, to provide that a recipient of state general assistance notify the supervisor in charge of such assistance of any change in the status of his income, money contributions or other support and family composition and that the supervisor may suspend or vary the assistance in accordance with the circumstances.

Another bill passed by the House and sent to Stratton would permit the State Teaching Certification Board to waive the requirement of student teaching under close and competent supervision upon presentation of evidence of two years' successful teaching experience on a valid certificate and of 120 semester hours in professional education. Sen. Dwight P. Friedrich, R., Centralia, was a cosponsor.

Also passed by the House and sent to the Governor was the bill cosponsored by Sens. Crisenberry and James W. Gray, D., East St. Louis to make it illegal to use any electrical device in catching fish, frogs or mussels and raises fee for license to fish with a trot line, throw line, buoyed ganging or set ganging to $5 and for nonresidents with hook and line and other devices, to $4.

The Senate passed and sent to the House this week a bill by Senator Jones to provide for broadening the state retirement reciprocal system act, and the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill by Rep. S. O. Dale, R., Fairfield, to extend to January 1, 1958 the right of a state employee to make up his first probationers year and contribute for that year to the state employees pension act.

Reps. Alan J. Dixon, D., Belleville, and Ralph Smith, R., Alton, were joint sponsors of a bill this week to establish the presumption that railroad crossing signals operate properly and to authorize reliance upon such assumption by motorists, and Senator Gray offered a bill to permit sale of beer in certain park district buildings.

Auto Jumps Curb, Strikes, Hurts Girl, 4

Police Warn Speeders After Incident at Raymond and Granger

Paula Bean, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bean, 316 South Granger street, was injured Wednesday evening when run over by an automobile while playing on the front walk near her home.

The little girl was taken to Harrisburg hospital where she spent a comfortable night and was being x-rayed this morning to determine the extent of her injuries.

Chief of Police Ross Lane states Paula was run over by an automobile driven by Jerry W. Blue, 19 years of age.

Lane stated Blue was driving west on Raymond, turned north on Granger but failed to make the turn, hitting the curb on the west side of Granger street. The car then shot across Granger, jumped the curb on the east side of the street, ran across the Lynn McCormack lawn, hit the little girl and continued until it came to a halt after hitting the home of Elmo Cooper, northeast of the McCormack home, Lane added.

Chief Lane said witnesses told him the car did not make a stop before making the turn off Raymond onto Granger street.

Young Blue was taken before Police Magistrate Oliver Wood immediately after the accident and made a plea of guilty to reckless driving. He was fined.

Chief Lane stated today he was starting a drive against speeding on the streets of Harrisburg.

"Early this month," Lane said "I urged all motorists to drive with care, pointing out that with the closing of schools for the summer there were many children playing on the walks. Apparently many drivers failed to heed the caution, as we continue to get calls about fast driving. There are zones in Harrisburg where 15, 20 and 25 miles per hour is the speed limit and we plan to take action to strictly enforce the speed law," Lane declared.

Eldorado Students Win Competitive U of I Scholarships

Two Eldorado Township high school graduates — Kaye Burnett Taylor and Ora Paul Hauser — have been awarded University of Illinois scholarships.

They were high in competitive examinations given by Raymond Gardner, Saline county superintendent of schools, for the University. The exams, with 15 high school graduates participating, were given at the Harrisburg Junior high school April 27.

Hauser topped the participants in the exam for the County scholarship, open to any graduate in the county and for the field of his choice.

Miss Taylor won the scholarship for Home Economics.

The scholarship exempts the students from tuition fees for the four years of college.

Scholarships were also available for agriculture, Children of Veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean action, but there were no winners announced in those classifications.

Durfee, Hine, Billman Barns Destroyed

Storms Also Hit Other Parts of County, S. Illinois

Destructive winds struck in many parts of Saline county about 4 a. m. today, but reports indicate the most damaging winds were east of Harrisburg in the Big Ridge community and south of Eldorado along the Billman Road.

It is reported the belfry of the Big Ridge Baptist church was toppled and that several barns in the area, including those on the Frank Durfee and Mrs. C. M. Hine farms, were destroyed. Mr. Durfee's truck, inside the barn, was believed only slightly damaged.

A drive along the Billman Road reveals that practically every one along the five-mile stretch of road connecting highways 142 and 13 had some damage.

Lloyd Billman Damage

The Lloyd Billman farm was particularly hard hit. One barn was completely demolished and a chicken house wrecked. A large tree was toppled and fell across the back of a truck and corn planter, but apparently the vehicles were only slightly damaged and Mr. Billman reported no loss of livestock or chickens.

The Billman yard was littered with roofing and other material from the wrecked buildings, plus tree limbs.

Although the residence escaped this morning, it was hit about two weeks ago and a large section of the roof had to be replaced.

A large barn on the Billman Estate, being farmed by Roy Osborne, had the entire east side blown away and continuing along the Billman Road toward Eldorado extensive damage was noted to barns on the William Sutton and Wilfred Sutton farms.

Tree Across Truck

Triple Rites for Ingrams, Mrs. Miley; Time Not Yet Set

A triple funeral will be held here for Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Ingram and daughter, Mrs. Delmas Miley, instantly killed Tuesday in a Florida highway crash.

The bodies were scheduled to leave Florida today and arrive at 3:30 a. m. Saturday at Cairo, Ill. They will lie in state Saturday at Gaskins funeral home.

Time of the funeral depends on the condition of Mrs. Miley's daughter, Katie Lou, injured and in a hospital at Gainsville. Her father, Delmas, called here late yesterday to say the child is getting along well and decision will be made Friday as to when she can leave the hospital.

Mr. Miley and his daughter, Mrs. Ronnie Zeigler, are with Katie Lou and it was stated they will remain with her until she is able to leave the hospital. The funerals will be held up until the three can arrive in Harrisburg, but it is hoped that they can be held Sunday.

It was learned that Katie Lou suffered no broken bones except a fractured cheek bone, although she was badly bruised all over.

The three were killed near Cross City, Fla., in a collision between Mr. Ingram's car and one driven by Lewis Anderson, prominent Tampa, Fla., civic leader and business man. Mr. Anderson's wife, Margaret, was killed and he and a son, Robert, were hospitalized.

Red China Warns U.S.

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Communist China today followed up its charges that U. S. planes "invaded" China with a warning that "further aggression" will be met with the full might of the Chinese armed forces.

The U. S. Navy said Red Chinese coastal batteries opened up Wednesday on an American carrier plane flying eight miles outside the Chinese mainland. Peiping called the incident a planned attack aimed at preventing the "peaceful liberation" of Formosa.

The State Department declined any comment pending outcome of a Navy investigation into the incident, but it was believed the investigation would lead to a protest to the Peiping government. Promises Retaliation

The Peiping Peoples Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist government, renewed and amplified its angry charges today.

The editorial was broadcast by Peiping Radio, chief propaganda outlet for Red China.

"The Chinese people do not threaten nor do they invade other countries nor will they allow their country to be threatened or invaded," it said. "If the American aggressors dare to invade China our armed forces will deal them smashing blows."

"Yesterday's incident was aimed at creating tension in the Far East and preventing the peaceful liberation of Taiwan (Formosa). China territorial land, sea and air are inviolable. The American aggressors will have to face all the consequences of their provocative acts."

Mrs. Malan Named To Work Shop Group At U. of Kansas

Mrs. Russell Malan, instructor in advanced mathematics at the Harrisburg Township High school, has been honored by being selected as a member of a work shop group at the University of Kansas, and began sessions at Lawrence, site of the University, Monday of this week.

The program is known as the National Science Foundation Institute, and will last for eight weeks.

Headed by Dr. Max Biebertmann of the Department of Mathematics at the University of Illinois, about 50 mathematics instructors, half from high schools and half from the universities, and about 25 high school juniors will take part in the institute.

Purpose of the institute is to determine the point at which high schools should go in their instruction in higher mathematics, and the point at which colleges and universities should pick up their instruction.

The high school juniors who will be tested and instructed during the institute, will be checked during their senior year to assist in verifying the conclusions reached at the institute.

The instructors and students represent a cross section of the United States.

Mayflower II Near Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass. — Mayflower II, "The Lord with her," glided from ages past toward Plymouth today on the last lap of her transatlantic crossing.

Capt. Alan Villiers hoped to unfurl the tiny brig's full canvas for the tricky trip into Plymouth Harbor. Thousands of sightseers and an official welcoming committee awaited her on the 54th day of her voyage.

Some of the edge was taken off the Plymouth reception at Provincetown Wednesday. The square-rigged galleon halted there to reenact the signing of the Mayflower Compact, just as the founding fathers did 336 years ago, and was virtually commandeered by eager tourists.

Coast Guard cutters circling the 92-foot craft were unable to pry away an excursion boat hugging the side of the official committee launch next to the Mayflower II.

The Mayflower II, exact replica of the original, lurched into Provincetown at the end of a 50-yard tow line from the Coast Guard cutter Yankton. Fifteen to 20-foot swells pitched the tiny craft.

Galatia Revises Proposition for Unit School District

Due to the recent uncovering of important information, the petition for a unit school district in the Galatia community has been revamped to exclude that part of the Raleigh Grade School District which is now a part of the Galatia Community High School District.

When the original petition was circulated it was believed that very few Raleigh elementary school children would be affected by the formation of a new district. However, it has been learned that a sufficient number would be affected that the operation of the Raleigh school would be jeopardized.

Although the territory could have been petitioned out of the unit district after its formation, it was decided that in order to show good faith the petition should be changed. This will necessitate the circulation of the new petition. Nothing else has been changed, it was stated.

In the event the voters approve a unit district in the coming election those in the Raleigh area who are being excluded may petition into the unit if they so desire, school authorities said.

Principal Jack Large said:

"There are many people in the

The party came to Harrisburg to establish precise survey stations in this area.

Commander Martin states the party will be here at least until July 1 and orders may extend the stay until July 15.

At the present, orders are to survey in an area from Cave-in-Rock at the southeast corner to New Haven on the northeast, Logan at the northwest corner and New Burnside on the southwest.

If the party remains in Harrisburg until July 15 the western boundaries will be extended to Du Quoin at the northwest and Cobden on the southwest corner.

The survey stations, called triangulation stations, are part of a network of thousands of similar stations which are placed from 4 to 10 miles apart throughout the United States.

Similar survey work is accomplished through all of North America and South America and most of the countries of the world carry on the survey work. In the United States the Survey service was

Fall-Out

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
American Iron Curtain Is Harder To Penetrate Than
Russia's; Moscow Ballet Balked
At Being Fingerprinted In
U. S. A.; Many Doctors Warned
Ike's Illness Would Recur.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Lyndon
Johnson's statesmanlike proposal
that we try out an exchange of television and other cultural projects with Russia focuses attention on whether Khrushchev is right or wrong about an American
"Iron Curtain."

The Communist Party boss,
when he faced the nation over
CBS, claimed the United States
had blocked cultural exchanges.
He called for widespread cultural
the "American Iron Curtain."

Careful investigation at the State
Department indicates that Khrushchev is right.

The official policy of the United States, as announced by President
Eisenhower at the Geneva Summit
Conference, is people-to-people
friendship behind the Iron Curtain. However, this policy is a long way from being carried out,
and those responsible are partly
the State Department, partly Congress for erecting red tape—especially fingerprinting.

Here are the facts:
Within a month after Ike announced the people-to-people
friendship policy in 1955, the Hutchinson (Kans.) News proposed
an exchange of wheat farmers
with Russia, similar to the exchange of Russian-American
farmers which chiefly concentrated on the farm belt. The State Department said no.

In 1956, Rumania, another Iron Curtain country, asked to send an
United States. The State Department, after considerable palaver,
admitted only one Rumanian farm
expert. He wanted to come for 90 days. The State Department cut him down to 60 days.

Finally he came, toured the Middle West, bought several million dollars' worth of seed corn
and farm machinery, then asked to remain 30 days longer. The State Department refused. He departed immediately.

Yet the exchange of farmers in the summer of 1955 had resulted in acting Agriculture Minister
Voice of America from Washington to tell the Russian people that the American people were their friends. The Soviet government has been spending several million dollars a year to jam the Voice of America so such messages could not be heard. Yet a member of the Soviet cabinet was
Voice of America.

FINGERPRINTING ROADBLOCK

Since then, the people-to-people
friendship campaign has been in
the hands of mustachioed William Lacey, a career diplomat who did an excellent job as ambassador to Korea and is now trying to promote cultural exchange.

It took three days for this writer to persuade Mr. Lacey to answer his telephone, so it may not
him either. However, Mr. Lacey,
when finally available, admitted
that cultural exchange is not going too well with Russia. It is going better with Poland and the satellite countries.

Chief obstacle is fingerprinting.

The Russians flatly refuse to come to the U. S. A. if they are to be fingerprinted. This, they say, is
the sign of a police state. Exactly this, however, is required by Congress and, although the State Department asked Congress to change the law, key Congressman
Francis Walter (D., Pa.) has been vigorously opposed.

The FBI, according to State Department officials, has been most cooperative, does not oppose USA-USSR cultural exchange as a danger to U. S. security.

Fingerprinting, however, has blocked the famed Moscow ballet from visiting the U. S.; also the Moyseev ensemble, a group of folk singers.

Eddie Dowling, well-known actor and producer, has gone to Moscow three times to arrange
Washington. Sol Hurok has been there twice, and Billy Rose has also negotiated for an American tour of the famous ballet. But the State Department has refused to waive fingerprinting, and the Moscow ballet refuses to submit to what it calls the humiliation of police-state techniques.

State Department figures show
that practically no students have been exchanged between the United States and Russia. On the other hand, some 17,000 students
visited Russia from Europe and Asia last year, and about 100,000
tourists went there last summer.

"Porgy and Bess" also toured
Russia from the United States and was widely acclaimed everywhere.

Unquestionably the Russian Iron Curtain has been partly lowered. The American curtain is much harder to penetrate.

KE SAW KHRUSHCHEV

Newsmen are mystified as to
why Press Spokesman Jim Hag-

erty should have denied that President Eisenhower saw the Khrushchev television interview, when
the President later said he did.

Here is what Hagerty said: "The President did not see the interview, but was aware of it."

Later, at his press conference,
the President was asked whether
the American embassy in Moscow
took a tape recording of the interview.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

The doctors who warned the public last June that the President's stomach trouble was likely to recur were Dr. David Rutstein,
head of the Harvard Medical School Department of Preventive Medicine; Dr. Samuel Gaines of the Polyclinic Hospital in New York; and several studies were also published to that effect by the Mayo Clinic and the New England medical journal. Dr. Ward Van Patter of Mayo's wrote "recurrence is found to be as high as 65 per cent."

"The percentage of recurrence is found to be as high as 65 per cent." "The percentage of recurrence is up to 50 per cent," said Dr. Gaines.
"It often recurs within one year," said Dr. Rutstein. "most people don't know it, but Sen. Bill Knowland took quite a political
licking in his home town of Oakland, Calif., the other day. Knowland and his family newspaper, the Oakland Tribune, strongly supported Ernest Rossi for the Oakland city council, but were decisively beaten by Robert Osborne, an Oakland manufacturer.
Osborne was backed by the Democrats and labor."

St. Bonaventure Gets

Ancient Copy of Bible

OLEAN, N. Y. — (UP) — A note-
worthy addition to St. Bonaventure University's collection of mediaeval manuscripts and incunabula is a 14th century manuscript copy of the Bible.

The book probably was written by the Franciscans and originally belonged, according to the inscription, to the Franciscan Friary at the famous pilgrimage centre, the
in Norfolk, England.

A special license was required
by the British government to export the rare volume.

Entitled "Biblia Sacra Latina,"
the book contains about 880 pages
of vellum with 58 to 60 lines to a
page. It is written in a clear, small,
Gothic handwriting with a quill
pen. Initials are illuminated in red and blue.

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars
wear a Pontiac Price Tag
—yet none gives you Any

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you
the heavy-duty construction, the road-hugging hest and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet
Pontiac's the nimblest heavyweight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer
can show you more than six dozen
advanced-engineering reasons why!
Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the best behaved beauty
that you ever had the pleasure of bossing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering
and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try
it in stop-and-go traffic... this is driving
the smaller jobs can't duplicate.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts
the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Pontiac's longer stride
brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up
inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length
its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car
at any price can surpass... and a built-
in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER— BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering
statistics or on-the-road performance,
Pontiac's Strato-Streak V-8 stands head
and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete facts-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening
test drive in traffic or out on the highway
will supply all the heart-lifting proof you
need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that
so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So
why not step out of the small-car class
and into a Pontiac... there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting
for you right now!

So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

Miss Oma Louise Grisham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland E. Grisham of 1810 College Avenue, Mt. Vernon, and Venda Gene Rhine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rhine of Eldorado RFD 3, were united in marriage in the First Presbyterian church of Eldorado, on Sunday afternoon, June 2.

Rev. Austin Huever performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of white gladioli, greenery and tall candelabras holding burning white candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin and was fashioned with a fitted bodice and a Queen Anne collar. The skirt was full, the sleeves fitted and pointed at the hands and there were many miniature buttons closing the gown in the back. A headdress of seed pearls and iridescent sequins secured a fingertip-length veil of illusion and the bride carried a bouquet of white roses, centered with a single orchid and with white ribbon and rosebud cascades.

Miss Patricia Cross of Bethalto served as maid-of-honor and wore blue chiffon, a veiled headdress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Clark Rhine, brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man and Ray Grisham, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Revis Busler and Ransie Barker were ushers.

Leslie Rhine was the flower girl.

The bridegroom's mother wore pink lace with white accessories and a corsage of carnations.

Frank Braden, accompanied at the organ by Miss Linda Tison, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

There was a reception in the church, with a five-tiered wedding cake holding the place of honor at the decorated table. Hostesses were Mrs. Nellie Busler, Mrs. Fern Tucker, Mrs. Rannie Stevens and Mrs. Pauline Tison. Miss Reba Barker kept the guest book. Following the reception the bridal couple left for a two weeks trip through the Smoky mountains.

Allen Dale Burbank, graduate in the HTHS class of 1957, is working in Kewanee for the Western Union telegraph company. Young Burbank was a telegraph operator in Jacksonville during his summer vacation last summer. He plans to attend SIU during the coming school year.

Union Grove Home Bureau Meets With Mrs. Mae Binkley

The Union Grove Home Bureau unit met in the home of Mrs. Mae Binkley, Thursday. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Grace Bond. Roll call was answered by each member with a suggestion from a recent lesson which she had tried.

The major lesson was presented by Mrs. Mary Harper, home adviser, about "A Flower Border." Fourteen members and the following guests were present: Mrs. Nellie Bird, Mrs. Hazel Knott, Mrs. Virginia Blackburn and Mrs. Thelma Whitlock.

Mrs. Lizzie Clark was in charge of recreation and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel are moving into their new home, the former Harry Erton property on South Ledford street, Harrisburg, which they purchased recently.

Mrs. B. F. Moore has had as her guest her daughter, Mrs. Russell Gilliam of Golconda. They have had a most pleasant week together in the Moore home.

Estes family, with 36 members and two visitors attending, was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Guard in Dorris Heights.

There was a basket dinner spread over two large tables in the house and everyone shared in the pleasure of the meal. Oscar Thomas asked the blessing.

Visiting was the order of the day and pictures were taken during the intervals of sunshine.

Forty-two family members had been notified, but some of them live too great a distance to attend. Many sent greetings and expressed the hope that they can attend next year.

Mrs. Bonita Evans called Mrs. Guard on the telephone, from her home in Pasadena, Calif., to wish the group a happy reunion. During a short business meeting it was decided to hold next year's reunion in the Guard home, again, and to set the date for the second Sunday in June.

The following officers were elected: Leo Wiedeman of St. Louis, president; Orval Nelson of Harrisburg, vice-president; Millicent Guard of Harrisburg, secretary.

Reports of several new babies were made, and one death during the past year, Mrs. J. W. Wallace, was reported.

Mrs. Maude Nelson and Earl J. Estes of Harrisburg and Mrs. Ora Wiedeman of St. Louis are the only living children of Joseph and Margaret Estes.

Interested In Strip, Underground Types In Bowlesville Township

SHAWNEETOWN, Ill., June 13.—The Stonefort Corporation is interested in developing both strip mining and underground operations in Bowlesville township if results of drill tests now under way prove satisfactory, officials of the Indianapolis, Ind., firm revealed at a meeting of citizens held at the American Legion hall in Shawneetown Tuesday night.

However, stripping operations would probably commence first in order to discover conditions and problems of the operation on a small scale, they explained.

The representative group of some 100 interested citizens heard Sam Sherwood, president of the firm, and Bill Dukes, mining superintendent point out that they had acquired sufficient options and leases for both types of mining to start some kind of operation, but the extent and kind of operation depends on how much coal is available. They can't operate on a large scale with a small amount of coal, they emphasized.

Mr. Sherwood stated that the Stonefort Corporation is a fairly new company in itself but was the result of a merger of three separate coal companies which had been started by his father in 1913 in Danville and later expanded to Lincoln, Ill., and Sullivan, Ind. He said that the firm is family controlled and is not run by a board of directors which results in slower action, etc.

He said they had mined 1,800,000 tons of coal last year in Illinois which ranked them 10th in the state and 54th in the nation. Their Will Scarlett mine near Carrier Mills had a payroll of three-quarter million dollars last year and the community reaps other advantages in the firm's purchases of supplies, etc.

Modern Methods Required

He also explained how there is a two or three year time lag from the time the firm starts an investigation as is now going on in Bowlesville until something concrete shows. "We cannot rush into an operation such as this for fear of making mistakes," he added. He pointed out, however, that they are anxious to get started as soon as they can.

Mr. Sherwood told of how other industries, such as power plants and aluminum plants often follow a coal mine into an area. This depends largely on the amount of reserve coal available since sometimes a 50-year supply is needed to make electricity for some plants, he said.

He stated that there is no six-foot seam of strippable coal in the area of their leases and options but that it is handily situated near the river and the disadvantage of the three or four foot seam of coal is considerably offset by the location. Modern methods also offset some of the risk involved in underground operations.

Coal firms are faced with the situation of getting less for coal than they did 10 years ago while costs are doubled and as a result they must do the job better with modern and efficient operation.

Mr. Dukes narrated the history of constructing the Will Scarlett mine as colored slides were shown by Ed Brantley of Harrisburg. Views were shown of the site before construction began and progress made during the 12-month construction period, after which raw coal was produced; followed by erection of the preparation plant and other facilities that allowed the mine to operate at full scale a year later.

Dealers Give Advice To Amateur Antiquer

NEW YORK — (U.P.)—Dealers participating in the recent New York Antiques Fair gave these rules for antiques shopping:

Don't try to mix profit-making with collecting. This spoils the fun.

Buy only what you need or like. Look for value, as well as bargain.

Consider the function of an item, as well as its decorative possibilities.

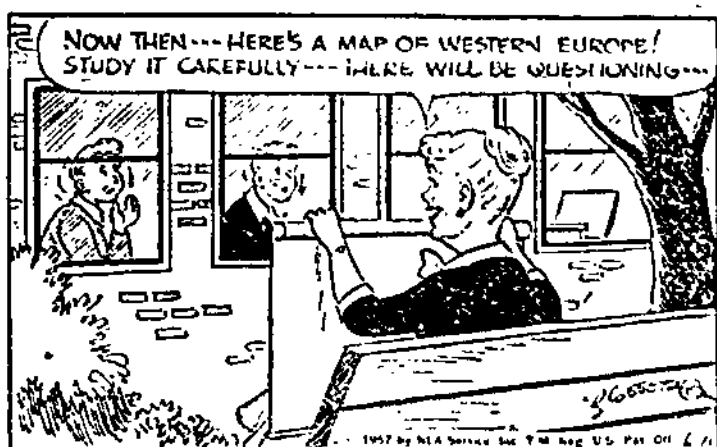

Don't buy for age alone; beauty and condition are also important.

Cat Has Novel Method Of Getting Attention

ALBANY, N. Y. — (U.P.)—Smoky, the cat, has discovered a new method of keeping neighbors awake.

Police rushed early one morning to the drug store where Smoky lies in wait for the burglar alarm. A police officer, Robert Rubenstein, was called to the scene.

"Oh, it's probably that darned cat of mine. He's always scratching the top around the door and it sets off the alarm."

Kills Fiancee Because She Wanted to Break Off Engagement

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A young suitor killed his fiancee early today because she wanted to break off their engagement and took his own life two hours later.

Police said John Cooper, 22, bent 19-year-old Barbara Moss to death and threw her body into a creek in Kearsley Park. A preliminary examination indicated the girl suffered a broken neck before she was thrown into the creek.

Cooper then went home and told his mother, "I've just killed my girl friend."

He grabbed a .38 caliber revolver and returned to the park where he shot himself to death only 200 yards from the spot where the girl's body had been found.

Police, who had launched a widespread search for Cooper after the youth's mother notified them of the slaying, found his body beneath a tree with a bullet hole in the right temple.

New Southern Illinois Fish Hatchery To Be Constructed Near Little Grassy

By WARREN STROTHER
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD (U.P.) — The Conservation Department plans to turn out another 250,000 bass and bluegills and other fish each year when its proposed new southern Illinois fish hatchery is completed.

The young fish will go into new Illinois ponds and lakes, now being constructed at the rate of nearly 1,000 a year, for stocking purposes. The new hatchery, ultimately, will replace some existing units.

About 110 acres of land south of Little Grassy Lake in Williamson County have been purchased for the new hatchery, authorized by the 1955 Legislature. A total of $145,000 was appropriated two years ago for the project.

The department plans to construct 10 ponds on the site, each two acres in area and eight feet deep, for hatchery and rearing more than 100,000 bass and 100,000 bluegills annually. The units also will produce some sunfish.

An Ideal Site

Sam A. Parr, fisheries chief of the department, said a bill pending in the current Legislature would provide another $100,000 to complete the project. A total of $128,000 of the money made available two years ago remains unspent, and would be re-appropriated.

The Little Grassy site is considered "ideal" for the fish rearing unit, with the natural layout of the land suitable for gravity feed of water from the lake and natural draining of the ponds in hatchery operation.

The ponds will be of earth construction, with shallow concrete tanks at the bottom of each pond for cleaning purposes. The tract purchased for the installation is large enough to double its size if necessary in future years, Parr said.

The site is adjacent to the national forest area south of Little Grassy Lake.

Plans and specifications for the construction already have been drawn, and construction would begin shortly after July 1, when the proposed appropriation becomes effective, provided it gains legislative approval.

Sell Some Hatcheries

The fisheries chief said the new hatchery would boost output of Illinois produced fish for stocking purposes to over two million an ually. Somewhat more than 1,700,000 are hatched each year now. The total, however, includes large numbers of walleye and northern pike which are distributed in northern Illinois lakes and streams shortly after they are hatched, and are not carried over a season at the hatcheries to permit better stocking.

Existing hatcheries are located at Rockford, Spring Grove, Carle, Mattoon and Geneseo. Parr said the Rockford hatchery definitely would be sold as soon as possible after the new southern Illinois unit is completed.

Some of the other units similarly may be disposed of after the new hatchery is constructed, but plans are not definite, he said.

Location of the hatchery in southern Illinois was required because of the extremely large demand for fish to stock new ponds being constructed in the southern part of the state. The 1953-55 drought helped boost the rate of pond building in southern Illinois.

The department provides pond and lake owners stock fish without charge if they will agree to a "reasonable" amount of public fishing.

Much-Married Peggy Hopkins Joyce Dies Of Cancer at Age 64

NEW YORK (U.P.) — Peggy Hopkins Joyce, former Broadway showgirl whose six marriages made her an international celebrity, died Wednesday night of throat cancer.

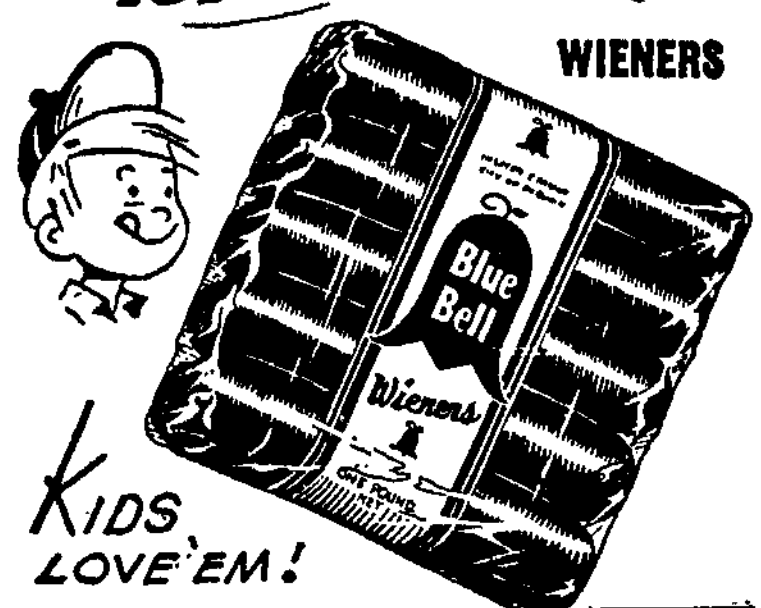

Andrew C. Meyer, her sixth husband, was at her bedside in the Memorial Center for cancer and allied diseases.

The blonde, blue-eyed beauty was born Marguerite Upton, 64 years ago in Farmville, Va. Her father was a barber.

Although she was one of Florenz Ziegfeld's "Glorified American Girls" and also appeared in Earl Carroll's "Vanities," it was her matrimonial ventures during the 1920s and 1930s that brought her international publicity.

Though there are over 500 different species of hummingbirds, the only one you are likely to see east of Texas and the Rockies is the ruby-throat.

Halliburton Pump is Fracturing's Biggest

Halliburton's 1200-horsepower HT-400 fracturing trailer, now in field service, is the petroleum industry's most powerful fracturing unit. Now substantially larger volumes and much higher injection rates are available from the two-pump mobile service unit.

More than one thousand hydraulic horsepower can be developed. Maximum pumping volume is in excess of 30 barrels per minute. Injection pressures up to 14,000 pounds can be reached. The HT-400 mobile fracturing unit is the biggest, most efficient pumping equipment in the field.

Each of the two Halliburton-designed and Halliburton-built HT-400 pumps is powered by a 600-horsepower Cummins V-12 Diesel. Laboratory and initial field runs in regular use indicate that each pump delivers more than 575 hydraulic horsepower—a remarkably high proportion of engine horsepower.

William D. Owsley, Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. senior vice president, stated, "Several years ago it became apparent that fracturing was moving toward greater volumes and increased injection rates. It became our assignment to anticipate these requirements and be ready with the best pumping unit."

"Halliburton engineers did not turn to war surplus engines and pumps designed for other applications. We started with basic design research. Many different pump designs reached at least the laboratory stage and some went beyond this, before the HT-400 was completed."

"Original design, a number of unique features and the technique of combining high strength steel with lighter metals where indicated by stress analysis are built into the HT-400 pump.

"The HT-400 pump is designed to operate efficiently in extreme temperatures, highest desert heats or at sub-zero. A built-in heat exchanger is used to heat or cool as climatic conditions demand."

"In efficiency and reliability the HT-400 has the remarkably low weight ratio of 8.75 pounds per horsepower—less than half the weight of any other oil well servicing pump. By comparison, the weight ratio of a slush pump is 60 to 80 pounds per horsepower."

"This low weight means that another of the original aims is fulfilled—mounting two pumps in combination with two engines on each fracturing trailer. The twin-pump feature provides maximum dependability and practicality. Choice of power requirements is immediately available, from one or both pumps. This in turn effects a greater economy for the oil operator, by reducing the number of service units necessary at the well."

"Where oil is employed as the fracturing medium the use of Diesel engines, reduces fire hazards within this equipment."

Four sizes of pumps are included in the HT-400 series, each one engineered to fit area requirements for fracturing.

Torque transmission from gear to crankshaft through splined coupling acts as the alignment joint between the two. The unique worm gear mounting provides more efficient horsepower transmission than any other design known.

"The traditional problem in mobile pump design has been to find a pump capable of absorbing near-maximum engine horsepower," Owsley continued. "The problem has now been solved with the HT-400."

"The same inspired yet painstaking thought that produced the pump itself has been applied to the remainder of this mobile service unit. From the ground up, the accessory equipment and trailer are built around the pump. "Halliburton is proud to introduce this ultra-modern fracturing trailer to the petroleum industry."

The surveys form a rigid, accurate basic framework for all maps, charts and boundary locations.

The work is undertaken at the request of federal, state and local agencies for use in mapping, boundary location and in connection with many types of heavy engineering projects, such as construction of highways, railroads, bridges, airports, floor control, soil conservation and land improvements.

In order to determine the exact geographic position of these stations, angles are measured at one station between several others usually several miles apart. It is necessary to erect steel towers over the marks so the surveyors can see from one station to another.

The towers are about ninety feet high and one will be erected on the southeast corner of the court house yard. Commander Martin states the tower construction is interesting to watch and "sidewalk superintendents" are welcome, but warns that everyone should be careful and keep at a safe distance.

After the work is completed in an area and the party is ready to move to another location, the towers are dismantled and moved with the survey party, leaving only the station mark behind. The mark consists of a bronze disc set in a

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A possible link between the mystery slaying of a Chicago banker and an estimated multi-million-dollar shortage in the office of the Cook County treasurer was investigated today by authorities.

The name of Leon Marcus, wealthy banker who was shot to death in a gang-style "ride" March 21, cropped up in the probe Wednesday when his initials were found on an allegedly fraudulent check issued by the county treasurer's office.

State's Atty. Benjamin Adamowski said the check for $3,654 was cashed at the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., which Marcus formerly headed. It was the same bank where Illinois' ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge cashed phony state

small concrete monument and is usually flush with the ground.

Commander Martin has a film, approximately 20 minutes long, showing the work of a Geodetic survey party and he would be glad to show it to civic or other groups while in Harrisburg.

checks in his $2,500,000 embezzlement.

"If we keep digging, we may even learn who killed Marcus," the state's attorney said.

Adamowski has estimated the total loss in the treasurer's office may reach three million dollars.

The state's attorney said he "suspected" that another apparently bogus check for $7,408 drawn against county funds also was approved by the bank with Marcus' knowledge.

Marcus was kidnapped and shot by gunmen who dumped his body in a vacant lot on Chicago's South-west Side.

Station Lawnmower Found in Repair Shop

It was found in a mower repair shop in Carrier Mills, and the repairman told the sheriff it was left with him Monday afternoon by a person he did not know. It was to be repaired and ready for the "owner" by Saturday.

Galatia Community High School District who are interested in improving their schools. Experience has indicated that the high school, particularly, has been forced to operate on a limited budget which will not permit a well-rounded secondary educational program.

"Proponents of the unit district realize that good elementary schools help make a good high school and that they are an essential part of the entire educational program."

"However, since practically all elementary graduates attend high school, it is imperative that the years in high school also be educationally profitable if the total program is to be effective. Our public school system involves grades one through twelve and these are the grades included in a unit system."

"There may be several attendance centers in the unit but they are all under one board of education which should consist of men who realize the importance of all twelve grades. It should be noted that no more than three members of the board of education can be elected from any one township."

"Statistics show that the proposed area is failing to receive about $25,000 in state funds each year because the unit district has not been formed."

The Rare Adventure by BERNARD FERGUSON

Copyright, 1954 by Bernard Edward Fergusson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: When Dr. Kurt Lillard was convicted of murder, his spot on the staff of a clinic in a small Missouri town was offered to Dr. Garde Shelton. Making a trip to look over the town, Garde is impressed by two young women he saw at the yacht club on the river.

Since Flynn had spoken of the yacht club group as if Garde would take a place among them, he must try to locate himself in that as-yet-unfamiliar setting.

He leaned against the fence, smoked his pipe and pictured himself as he was, standing there, doing those things. He was tall and dark. Dr. Shelton was a too intent young man, and his voice was deep. Charitably one could say that his voice vibrated. As a matter of cold fact, it grated or rasped. He was a doctor, and a good one. Children liked him, largely. Garde knew, because only with children did he easily drop his defensive attitude; with them he was natural, warm and friendly.

With others, life had taught him wariness. His boyhood had been meager. His mother was now, and had been, a schoolteacher who had taught her two sons morals but who had endowed them with no gift for beauty because she herself had not that gift. The world and its people were something to suspect and to fight. So believed Beth Shelton.

Garde knew that he had missed a lot of life. In the 35 years already passed by him, he had had to make his own adjustments to the world around him; he had had to work his own way through school, taking longer for his medical education than did other men. With the look of a man who has reached a decision not entirely to his liking, he started the car and turned its wheels away from the fence, backed, then straightened out so that he could go down along the short street of tall houses. This time Garde found the clinic without any difficulty. He drove in between the gateposts and parked with assurance in one of the lanes marked out for "Visiting Doctors."

He touched his tie and glanced at his watch — 11:30. Not a bad hour. Still with assurance, he opened the front door and went into the clinic vestibule. Yes, it was much as he had pictured. A light, airy-seeming place, with a crisp cleanliness about it. This central hall terminated in wide doors for receiving cases. A curved desk at the right was equipped with a patient register, a bowl of pink flowers and a pleasant-faced receptionist. Some visitors sat in an alcove to his left; down the hall a nurse pushed a wheelchair in which sat a woman.

Garde went over to the desk. "I'm Dr. Shelton," he said in his deep voice. He took out his wallet and opened it to his identification card. "I would like to see any of the staff doctors. I came here at the suggestion of Dr. Flynn with the possibility of handling the pediatric work."

A shadow crossed the girl's face, but she said quietly, "I'll see who's free. I believe you are expected, Dr. Shelton."

She had looked him over while speaking, and of course Garde knew that she was doing it. He'd be "looked over" regularly, and judged against that other man, the one he was planning to replace.

The girl did things with plugs at a small switchboard, then smiled at Dr. Shelton. Dr. Ruble, she said, would be right over.

Garde was nodding in approval when he heard his own name spoken. He turned to face a tall and smiling man. A handsome chap with white dusting his black hair, a small, clipped mustache and a skin dark from sun rather than by complexion. He wore crisp whites and he was extending a cordial hand. "I'm Ruble, O.B., doctor," he said warmly. "And I am glad to see you."

"Dr. Flynn suggested that I come up . . ."

"Yes, he told us that you had to be sold on our proposition," Garde shook his head. "It was more a matter of adjusting my own ideas: I had somewhat expected to continue on his service at Children's. This — would be a change from that idea."

"Yes, it would. We have a doctors' room close by—if you care to . . ."

And of course Garde went with him, down the hall, past the desk and call board.

He opened a flat gray door labeled "Doctors. No Admittance" and stepped aside for Garde to precede him into a pleasant room furnished with leather chairs and two couches; there were bookshelves and restful colors. An open book showed a locker room and a shower stall. Ruble closed this door and waited for his guest to select a chair, then he took another and put his feet up on the coffee table.

"You're not as young as we feared . . ." he said ingenuously, then laughed at himself. "Dr. Flynn calls you 'the boy,' and we took him seriously."

"I'm 35," said Garde. "I had to work my way through school, and it took longer."

"War service?"

"No. I was exempted. I'm on stand-by reserve, but don't expect to be called." He shook his head at the offer of cigarettes. "I generally smoke a pipe—and it's an outdoor sort of instrument."

Ruble nodded. The two men still were watchful of each other. Like two pups, thought Garde, our neck-hair bristled, and our tails stiff. (To Be Continued)

Constitutional Convention Out

SPRINGFIELD — The House Executive Committee has killed a proposal, endorsed by Gov. William G. Stratton in his inaugural message, for a constitutional convention to rewrite the the 1870 state charter. Chances for legislative approval of a constitutional convention call were never considered bright, and the governor has never pushed the proposal. Legislative leaders report the governor now will seek approval in the closing weeks of the General Assembly for only two constitutional changes — overhauling the state court system and making the state auditor's office appointive rather than elective.

Evansville Station Protests Proposal To Assign Channel 3 to Carbondale

WASHINGTON — A proposal that television Channel 3 be assigned to Carbondale, Ill., has been protested by Evansville Television, Inc., in a statement filed with the Federal Communications Commission.

The Evansville firm, operator of WTVW on Channel 7, objected to the assignment of Channel 3 to Carbondale because that action would conflict with one of WTVW's proposals for meeting the commission's "de-interference" plan for Evansville.

The commission, aiming to remove the conflict of very high frequency and ultra high frequency television operation in the Evansville-Owensboro area, has ordered that VHF channel 7 be deleted from Evansville and assigned to Louisville.

WTVW in an effort to counter that order, offered the commission two alternatives — that it reassign channels 3 and 11 from Louisville to Evansville, or that it reassign channel 4 from Bloomington to Indianapolis and channel 6 from Indianapolis to Louisville. No action has been taken yet by the commission on that petition.

In the light of that petition, Evansville Television has asked the commission to withhold the Carbondale assignment of channel 3 until it rules on WTVW's proposals.

It points out that Carbondale and Evansville are only about 90 miles apart, while commission rules require that TV transmitters on the same channel be at least 170 miles apart. Adoption of the Carbondale assignment proposal "would thus deny WTVW's proposal that channel 3 be deleted from Louisville and reassigned to Evansville," the Evansville firm's statement noted.

It also points out that the population of Carbondale is only about 11,000 persons, while Evansville has more than 128,000 residents and Louisville more than 369,000. In view of those differences in population, it would be in the public interest for the commission to decide the matters raised in the WTVW petition before ruling on whether channel 3 should be assigned to Carbondale, the Evansville Television statement asserts.

Counseling, Follow-Up Part Of Graham's Evangelism

Editor's Note: This is the third of four special reports by the United Press on Billy Graham's New York crusade.

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — Of the hundreds who respond each night to Billy Graham's invitation to make "decisions for Christ," about 60 per cent fall into the category that the church traditionally has called "converts."

The other 40 per cent who come forward already are church members — some nominal, some active—who are reaffirming their faith.

Graham calls them all "inquirers" or "seekers" for Christ.

He agreed with his critics that others, who may have been genuinely moved to accept Christ, fall along the wayside in the difficult transition from a reviving atmosphere to the less-stimulating environment of a local church.

Graham pointed out, however, that he has tried to minimize the attrition among his converts by setting up a "counseling and follow-up system" that is unique in the annals of mass evangelism.

Accompanied By Counselor
It goes into operation the moment an "inquirer" starts down the aisle at a Graham meeting. Before he reaches the front of the auditorium, the inquirer will find at his side a person of the same sex and approximately the same age—a "counselor" who has had nine weeks of special training for his role.

After the service, the counselor accompanies the inquirer to a large auditorium in the basement. When everyone is seated Graham or one of his assistants makes a brief talk.

The inquirers are urged to return each evening at 6:30 for the duration of the crusade, to attend classes of instruction. They also get individual interviews with the inquirers who later will fill out a "decision card" containing the inquirer's name, address, age, telephone number, occupation, the nature of his "decision," and his local church "preference."

Card Sent To Church
Within 48 hours, a copy of this card will go to the minister of the local church. The counselor is supposed to keep in touch with the inquirer, by telephone or in person, until he has established contact with a local church.

Some ministers follow up these

leads diligently. Others, who do not particularly approve of Graham's methods, resent what they regard as an attempt to draft them into his crusade.

Graham does all he can, at ministerial conferences and private talks, to win the wholehearted cooperation of local clergymen.

Many attempts have been made to determine what proportion of the "decisions" made at Graham's meeting bear lasting fruit. Admirers have demonstrated through spot-checks that many converts are now active, witnessing church members.

British Survey

The only survey which seems to have covered a statistically-significant sample was conducted in 1955 by the British Weekly, an interdenominational church paper in England which has never been identified as pro or anti-Graham.

On the basis of a poll of British clergy of all denominations, the paper reported that 64 per cent of the converts who joined churches during Graham's London crusade were "still attending church and taking part in church life regularly" one year later.

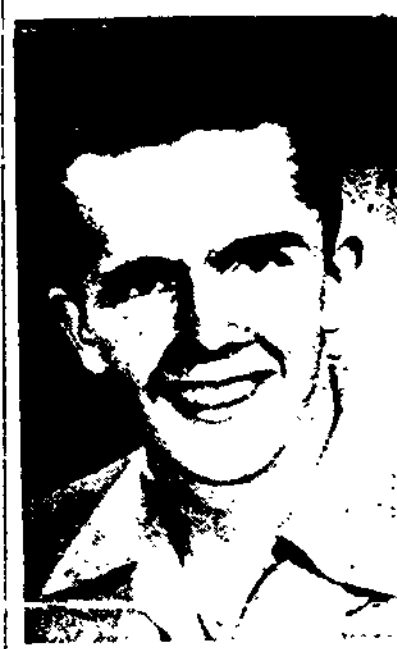

Graham himself will not venture a guess, in terms of percentages, as to how many signers of decision cards become true, lasting converts to Christianity.

"Frankly," he said, "I don't think there is any way we can tell, this side of heaven. If even one of them is saved, the whole crusade is worthwhile."

Not As I Do
PORTLAND, Me. — (UP) — "Look dear," Blaine Davis cautioned his little daughter, "just put the tollie pop in your mouth and suck it. Don't bite down on it like this."

Davis suddenly was minus a tooth.

A future practicing attorney in either Gallatin or Saline county received his jurist doctor's degree at DePaul University in Chicago on June 6.

He is William Herrmann, son of the late Dr. N. A. Herrmann of Harrisburg. He is the brother of George Herrmann, Shawneetown druggist, and nephew of Leo Herrmann of Ridgway.

William plans to serve with the F.B.I. for the next four years as a special agent before setting up law practice. He has had some previous experience with the F.B.I., having served as fingerprinting expert for three months following his graduation from the Harrisburg Township high school in 1951. He is scheduled to take the state bar examination in September.

Mr. Herrmann received his BA degree at Southern Illinois University in August, 1955. He is married to the former Joan Mareks of Chicago. They have a 3-months-old daughter.

Leo Herrmann was among those to attend the conferring of degrees at DePaul Thursday of last week.

This Artist Does His Work Under Water

ALBANY, N. Y. — (U.P.) — Chris E. Olsen, of nearby West Nyack, does undersea paintings, literally. Olsen doesn't use a bathysphere, either. He just pulls on a diving hood, tucks his brushes and paints under his arm, and jumps in. He sketches underwater on glass covered with canvas and white lead.

The artist does his painting, mostly in the South Pacific, in connection with the exploratory work of the American Museum of Natural History of New York City.

Del Ennis' Slugging Puts Cards Up with Big Boys; Larry Jackson Has Shutout

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Del Ennis, on the trading block only a week ago, is swinging in his old rhythmic style again and he could be the man to produce a possible pennant melody for the streaking St. Louis Cardinals.

The slugging Ennis paced the Cards to their eighth straight victory Wednesday night when he blasted a three-run homer off Rob- in Roberts of the Phillies in a 4-0 triumph that moved St. Louis with- in one game of the National League lead.

Thanks, in part, to Ennis' re- cent performances, the first five N. L. clubs are so closely bunched today that they all could squeeze through an eye of the same nee- dle. Cincinnati still leads by half a game over both Brooklyn and Milwaukee while St. Louis and Philadelphia are both one game out.

Musial Sets Record
Larry Jackson of the Cardinals scattered nine hits to register his eighth victory as Stan (The Man) Musial set a league record for consecutive games played at 823.

Brooklyn defeated Milwaukee, 11-9; Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati, 4-3, in 10 innings, and the Giants edged the Cubs, 4-3, in other N. L. games.

The White Sox increased their

American League lead to five games with a 7-5 victory over the Yankees; the Indians licked the Red Sox, 6-1; Detroit beat Bal- timore, 4-2, and Washington took the nightcap of a two-night twin bill, 3-2, after Kansas City won the opener, 5-3.

Charley Neal drove in four runs with a triple and a homer as the Dodgers ended their four-game losing slide at the expense of the Braves. Neal's two-run triple el- imated a six-run second inning and his two-run homer in the fourth proved the margin of victory.

Frank Torre, Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron homered for the Braves.

Gene Freese singled home Dee Fondy in the 10th inning with the run that gave the Pirates their eighth victory in the last 12 games. Mays "Steals" Show

Willie Mays was the whole show in the Giants' win over the Cubs. He slammed his 11th homer with two on in the sixth to tie the score, then stole third base in the ninth and continued home when Cub catcher Cal Neeman threw wild into left field.

The White Sox had to call on relievers Paul LaPalme and Dixie Howell to check a ninth-inning rally after Mickey Mantle blasted a two-run homer, his second of the game and 18th of the season. Mantle had four hits in five trips to boost his batting average to .378.

Walt Drogo and Jim Rivera hit homers for Chicago while Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer connect- ed for the Yanks.

Moss In Start
Cleveland's bullpen ace Don Mos- si hurled his first complete game of the season to beat Boston. Mos- si scattered nine hits and struck out six while the Indians capitaliz- ed on Bob Porterfield's error and balk to wrap up the contest with a five-run second inning.

The Tigers got to Oriole starter Art Ceccarelli for three runs in the first inning, J. W. Porter sup- plying the big blow with a two- run homer.

Rocky Bridges' sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the ninth helped reliever Tru Clevenger to his fifth straight victory as the Senators won the nightcap from the Athletics. In the opener, Kan- sas City rode to victory on homers by Lou Skizas, Gus Zernial and Hal Smith.

Jack Stanford Named Phil Player of Month
PHILADELPHIA — Rookie pitcher Jack Sanford, who has a 7-1 won-lost record, Wednesday was named the outstanding player of the month on the Philadelphia Phillies by the local sports writ- ers association.

KEEPING HIS DISTANCE

Akins Cops Decision in Byars Bout

NORFOLK, Va. — Welter- weight Virgil Akins of St. Louis, encouraged by his unanimous de- cision over Walter Byars, asked today for a shot at the top con- tender.

"I deserve a fight with Tony DeMarco," said lanky Virgil. "De- Marco could get only a split de- cision over Byars last month."

Akins' harder punching at long range beat stubby Byars of Bos- ton before 3,000 in their TV 10- rounder at the City Arena Wednes- day night. It was the sixth con- secutive victory for 148-pound Virgil, rated fourth among con- tenders.

Byars, 144, suffered his second straight defeat. The ninth-ranking contender lost to top-rated ex- champion DeMarco of Boston on May 24.

Many of the fans thought 29- year-old Akins didn't deserve the decision. They booed the verdict after rooting throughout for little 24-year-old Walter, the 12-5 under- dog. But the three ring officials favored Akins on the 10-point- must scoring: 98-93, 99-96 and 96-94. The United Press agreed, 96-94.

Man Finishes College Before High School

BOSTON — John N. Ellis, 27, of Worcester finished college before he finished high school.

He left high school at the age of 17 to enter the Army in 1947. When he got out of the service two years later he decided to go to college. Boston University allowed him to enter on condition he finish high school before graduat- ing from college.

In 1955 he had earned his Bache- lor of Science degree. Then he finished his high school course and, recently, received both his high school diploma and his college degree at Boston University's com- mencement.

Play Starts in U. S.

Open Golf Tournament

TOLEDO, Ohio — Ben Ho- gan, armed with a new putting grip and the same old grim de- termination, had both the odds and the sentiment of the gallery with him as he teed off today, along with 161 other hopefuls, in the opening round of the 57th U. S. Open golf championship.

The first threesome starts firing at 8 a. m. EST today in a three- day grind that lists 18 holes to- day and Friday, with the low 50 and ties meeting over 36 holes Saturday for golfdom's greatest prize.

Lucky Dip Could Be Belmont Surprise

NEW YORK — Lucky Dip, a French-bred colt with stamina to spare, may prove the surprise of Saturday's 89th running of the $100,000 Belmont Stakes, the third jewel in the turf's Triple Crown.

While most observers are tab- bing Bold Ruler and Gallant Man as the horses to beat, Lucky Dip came to the running of the mile and one-half Belmont with two sparkling performances at Dela- ware Park.

Musial Tops in First Report on All-Star Voting

NEW YORK — Stan (The Man) Musial of the St. Louis Car- dinals, who has played in 13 ma- jor league All-Star games, lends the National League voting today in the first poll results announced by Commissioner Ford C. Frick's office.

Musial, who set a National Le- ague record by playing his 823rd consecutive game Wednesday night, has attracted a total of 12,485 votes for first base in the first tally of ballots from all sec- tions of the country.

Besides Musial, the only 1956 starters who lead in the early vot- ing for this year's game at St. Louis, July 9, are left fielder Frank Robinson and catcher Ed Bailey, both of the Cincinnati Redlegs. Musial started last year's game as a right fielder.

The closest voting thus far is at shortstop, where Al Dark of the Cardinals has polled 4,241 votes to 3,948 for Roy McMillan of the Redlegs. McMillan won the start- ing assignment in 1956.

Willie Mays of the New York Giants is runner-up to Musial in popularity with 11,807 votes for center field.

In the first cumulative vote the leaders at each position are: Mu- siel, 1B; Red Schoendienst, 3B; 2B: Ed Mathews, Braves, 3B; Dark, SS; Robinson, LF; Mays, CF; Hank Aaron, Braves, RF; Bailey, C.

The early American League bal- loting will be announced later in the day. Voting is being con- ducted by various newspapers and radio and television stations throughout the country. Balloting for the teams closes at midnight, June 27.

Oliver Rollins

Oliver Rollins, the Carrier Mills Harlem Globetrotter, is getting ready to trot around parts of the globe again soon.

Last summer Rollins travelled through many countries in Europe with the Globetrotters, then played basketball up-and-down the United States and in Canada during the fall, winter and spring months. He came home to Carrier Mills about five weeks ago, after playing bas- ketball 11 of the previous 12 months.

Now the Globetrotters are com- pleting plans for a tour of the Car- ibbean area and South America with a squad that will include Rol- lins.

The "Big Cat" is playing lots of basketball and seeing lots of the world. That's the life of a Harlem Globetrotter.

Rudy Phillips, the water skiing barbequeur from Shawneetown, re- ports he has received word from the Evansville Water Ski club that their fleet of boats will dock at Shawneetown about noon Sunday. The Evansville group will stage a water ski show that will provide lots of thrills and spills for specta- tors. And there will be no admis- sion fee. All free.

Mrs. Phillips, billed as the Ski Queen of the Midwest, will partic- ipate in the show, spinning around on one ski, do the graceful back swan and go over the high ski jump at full speed.

Many of the area's top golfers have entered the third annual Me- tropolis Open golf tournament, set for Metropolis Country Club, Sat- urday and Sunday, July 6 and 7.

Over 50 prizes will be awarded to amateurs as well as $150 in prize money for pros. Entrants are entitled to 18 holes of practice during tournament week, luncheons both days of the event prepared by ladies of the club and a dance Saturday night.

Entries for the tourney will be accepted until July 5, but golfers who plan to enter are asked to have their entries in before July 1 if possible to help in giving bet- ter pairing and starting times.

Should Get Galatia Letters Monday A. M.

Galatia high school students who are to receive athletic, band or cheerleader letters for the past year should put them up at the high school Monday morning. Prin- cipal Jack Large stated today.

Henry Hudson discovered the island of Manhattan in 1609.

The male cowbird is the only black bird with a brown head in the United States; the female is a dull gray color.

GOT IT MADE — Don Drysdale, left, and Gino Cimoli whoop it up in the Brooklyn Dodgers' club house. Drysdale has become a big pitcher. Cimoli crashed the regu- lar lineup of a championship club.

McMurtry Retires After 39 Years As An Educator

J. S. McMurtry

J. S. McMurtry of Edorado has retired after 39 years as a teacher and administrator, both in elementary and high schools.

In discussing his planned retirement Mr. McMurtry stated he had found the administrators duties, combined with some teaching, too heavy a load but might consider remaining active in the profession with teaching duties only.

He was principal of the Equality Township High school the past two years and was connected with the school, both as teacher and principal, for nine years.

Mr. McMurtry also has served as principal of high schools at Enfield, Cave-in-Rock, Minooka, Perry and Franklin and taught one year (1944) in the Eldorado Township high school. He has taught in the rural schools of Saline, White and Hamilton counties.

He first enrolled for college work at Carbondale in 1916 and started teaching within a couple of years. In 1921 he completed work and successfully passed an examination for a Supervisor's Certificate, which made him eligible to be a school principal, even though he hadn't completed work on his degree. He recalls there were six in the class working for the Supervisor's Certificate—and all were successful—including Roscoe Pulliam and John Allen, both well known in this area.

Mr. McMurtry has his Bachelor's degree in science and mathematics and Master's degree in administration from Southern Illinois university and has completed work at SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—An electric light bulb expected to burn for 100 years without being turned off has been lighted at General Electric's research laboratory.
